

Laboratoire de
CYBERJUSTICE
Laboratory

LISTES DE DIFFUSION POUR PUBLICATION D'ARTICLES SCIENTIFIQUES SUR LA CYBERJUSTICE

N° : 8

Sujet : Publications portant sur la cyberjustice

Date : Mardi, 16 juillet 2013

Auteur : Alexandre Thibeault

Courriel : Alexandre.Thibeault@umontreal.ca

---

PRÉSENTATION

Dans le cadre des projets GTRC, les chercheurs publient une importante littérature scientifique dans les domaines complémentaires du droit et de la technologie, notamment sur les questions relatives à la cyberjustice. Le Laboratoire de cyberjustice considère qu'il importe de circonscrire un ensemble de revues et de périodiques d'envergure pouvant se prêter à la publication des travaux portant sur cette branche émergente du droit. Ainsi, le Laboratoire de cyberjustice désire mettre deux listes de diffusion desdites revues et périodiques à la disposition des chercheurs désirant publier sur un sujet relatif à la cyberjustice. La première liste de diffusion portera sur le droit, alors que la seconde sera plus inclusive et, à ce titre, portera sur un ensemble de disciplines connexes en sciences sociales et propres à convenir aux travaux multidisciplinaires sur la cyberjustice.

1. LISTE DE DIFFUSION (DROIT)

Cette liste comprend des revues et périodiques s'intéressant aux travaux menés dans le domaine du droit. Ceux-ci sont présentés par région, à savoir le Canada, les États-Unis, la Royaume-Uni ainsi que l'Europe continentale. À la différence de la version détaillée (voir point suivant), la liste abrégée ne comporte que le nom des revues et périodiques. Ceux-ci sont présentés dans un ordre décroissant de reconnaissance et d'influence.

CANADA
Classement	Nom de la publication
1	Canadian Journal of Law and Technology
2	University of Toronto Law Journal
3	Revue de droit de McGill
4	Windsor Yearbook of Access to Justice
ÉTATS-UNIS
Classement	Nom de la publication
1	Harvard Journal of Law and Technology
2	Harvard Journal of Law & Public Policy
3	Berkeley Technology Law Journal
4	Stanford Technology Law Review
5	The Journal of Legal Studies
6	Cornell Journal of Law and Public Policy
7	Yale journal of Law and Technology
8	Michigan Telecommunications and Technology Law Review
9	Law and Contemporary Problems
10	Yale Law and Policy Review
11	Santa Clara Computer & High Technology Law Journal
12	New York University Review of Law & Social Change
13	Duke Law and Technology Review
14	Columbia Science and Technology Law Review
15	Law & Social Inquiry
16	Northwestern Journal of Technology and

	Intellectual Property
17	Virginia Journal of Law and Technology
ROYAUME-UNI
Classement	Nom de la publication
1	International Journal of Law and Information Technology
2	Social & Legal Studies
3	Information & Communications Technology Law
4	European Journal of Law and Technology
EUROPE CONTINENTALE
Classement	Nom de la publication
1	Revue Lamy de Droit de l'Immatériel
2	Revue du Droit des Technologies de l'Information
3	International Review of Law, Computers and Technology
AUSTRALIE
Classement	Nom de la publication
1	Melbourne University Law Review
2	The Sydney Law Review
3	Alternative Law Journal
4	QLT Law Review
5	Public Space : The Journal of Law and Social Justice

2. LISTE DE DIFFUSION DÉTAILLÉE (DROIT)

La liste de diffusion détaillée met à la disposition des chercheurs un lien vers la page web de chaque revue ou périodique, sa description originale, une copie intégrale des paramètres de soumission de travaux, la mention du caractère gratuit ou payant de celui-ci, de même que sa disponibilité en ligne. À des fins de clarté, les revues et périodiques de cette liste sont présentés en fonction de leur classement, tel que précédemment établi.

CANADA
NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION <sup>1</sup>	PARAMÈTRES DE SOUMISSION DE TRAVAUX <sup>2</sup>	GRATUITE / PAYANTE	EN LIGNE
Canadian Journal of Law and Technology	http://cjlt.dal.ca	The Canadian Journal of Law and Technology provides a forum for matters of interest relating to information technology law issues, including internet law, law and technology, privacy law, information technology transactions, electronic commerce, biotechnology, intellectual property and commercialization of research and development projects. The focus of the material is primarily Canadian. The Journal also includes book reviews and commentary on significant cases.	Call for Papers The Canadian Journal of Law and Technology is a refereed journal dedicated to providing coverage of legal issues relating to information technology law from both Canadian and international perspectives. The CJLT is a publication of the Law and Technology Institute of Dalhousie Law School, and is edited by Michael Deturbide and Graham Reynolds. The editors of the journal are seeking submissions of original, unpublished manuscripts. Topics for submissions may include, but are not limited to: intellectual property, privacy, electronic commerce, regulatory issues, criminal and civil liability issues. The journal will seek to achieve a balance between scholarly consideration of significant issues in information technology law, and shorter pieces that explore issues of practical concern or application. The journal is also open to articles and comment pieces that explore legal issues from an interdisciplinary perspective. The journal will also include relevant book reviews. Current online electronic and hard copy issues of the CJLT are available by subscription from Thomson Carswell. Information about the CJLT and archived issues are published on this free Web site through the Electronic Text Centre at Dalhousie University. Publication The CJLT will be published two times year. Submission of scholarly articles, comment pieces and book reviews is welcome. Contributions to the journal may be in either English or French. Scholarly articles are articles that involve significant research and that develop an idea or thesis of	Payante, mais les éditions ultérieures à 2002 sont disponibles gratuitement en ligne.	Oui, depuis 2002.

<sup>1</sup> Le contenu de ce champ consiste en une reproduction textuelle tirée du site web de la publication.

<sup>2</sup> Ibid.

			importance in the area of information technology law. Such articles should be approximately 25 to 50 typed, double-spaced pages (based on a 12-point font). Comment pieces will typically address a particular focussed issue of current concern. They may aim to expose a problem or difficulty in the law, to propose solutions or recommend legislative reform. Comment pieces may include case comments, or comments on recent legislative or policy initiatives. Comments should be approximately 10-20 pages (based on a 12-point font). Book reviews should be of new or current publications in the area of information technology law. Reviews should be approximately 5-10 pages. Format Articles should be in Word format. Articles must contain endnotes and not footnotes. All submissions should be double-spaced. Submissions should be made by e-mail attachment to: michael.deturbide@dal.ca. The Canadian Journal of Law and Technology is a peer-reviewed journal. All suitable contributions will be sent to peer reviewers for assessment. Because of the significant effort made by peer reviewers in assessing manuscripts in a timely manner, we ask that submissions to the CJLT be made only to the CJLT. In return, we undertake to provide a relatively prompt assessment of suitability for publication.
University of Toronto Law Journal	http://www.utpjournals.com/University-of-Toronto-Law-Journal.html	The University of Toronto Law Journal has taken a broad and visionary approach to legal scholarship since its beginnings in 1935. Its first editor, Professor WPM Kennedy, hoped that the Journal would foster a knowledge of various nations' laws "as expressions of organized community life, of ordered progress, and of social justice." The University of Toronto Law Journal has since established itself as a leading journal for theoretical, interdisciplinary, comparative and other conceptually oriented inquiries into law and law reform. The Journal regularly publishes articles that study law from such perspectives as legal philosophy, law and economics, legal history, criminology,	Article Submission Guidelines: When submitting your article to the UTLJ, please note the following guidelines: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The UTLJ is a general law journal; we accept submissions on any topic. We particularly welcome articles of a theoretical, interdisciplinary, comparative or conceptually oriented nature. The UTLJ regularly publishes articles that study law from such perspectives as legal philosophy, law and economics, legal history, criminology, law and literature, and feminist analysis.</li> <li>• Submissions are reviewed on an ongoing basis, and therefore can be made at any time.</li> <li>• The UTLJ operates on a double-blind peer review process. The piece is sent to two reviewers who do not know the identity of the author. The author is not informed of the identity of the reviewers.</li> <li>• This peer review process ordinarily takes four to six weeks.</li> <li>• The UTLJ has an exclusive submissions policy. If you submit to the UTLJ, you cannot submit</li> </ul>	Payante, mais les éditions ultérieures à 2007 sont disponibles gratuitement en ligne.	Oui, depuis 2007.

		law and literature, and feminist analysis. Global in relevance, international in scope, it publishes work by highly regarded scholars from many countries, including Australia, Israel, Germany, New Zealand, the United States and the United Kingdom. The University of Toronto Law Journal is currently ranked first among all general refereed law journals worldwide by the Washington and Lee most cited legal periodicals list, a position that it has held since 2007. UTLJ also received the highest ranking for journal quality from the Australian Research Council and is recommended to British law libraries by the Society of Legal Scholars. The University of Toronto Law Journal appears in numerous legal and social science databases, including Lexis, Westlaw, HeinOnline, JSTOR, Project Muse and SCOPUS. The University of Toronto Law Journal has taken a broad and visionary approach to legal scholarship since its beginnings in 1935. Its first editor, Professor WPM Kennedy, hoped that the Journal would foster a knowledge of various nations' laws "as expressions of organized community life, of ordered progress, and of social justice." The University of Toronto Law Journal has since established itself as a leading journal for theoretical, interdisciplinary, comparative and other conceptually oriented inquiries into law and law reform. The Journal regularly publishes articles that study law from such	your piece to any other journal for consideration. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Our preferred length for articles is approximately 15,000 words.</li> <li>• Articles submitted to the UTLJ should be anonymized, to facilitate our blind review process. The document properties should be removed. The article should not include the author's name or any acknowledgements. No "track changes" should remain in the document. Any footnotes referencing the author's prior work in a way that might identify the author should be redacted. Book reviews do not need to be anonymized.</li> <li>• When formatting your citations, please follow the seventh edition of the McGill Guide. Please note that the seventh edition removes most periods from its citations formats. The format for page pinpoints is "at 2" (i.e. the page number, with "at" before it).</li> <li>• Please note the following examples of the basic format for secondary sources (taken from the McGill Guide): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>o Books: Peter W Hogg, Constitutional Law of Canada, 4th ed (Scarborough, Ont: Carswell, 1997).</li> <li>o Periodicals: Roderick A Macdonald, "The Fridge-Door Statute" (2001) 47 McGill LJ 11 at 15.</li> <li>o Collections: Boudewijn Bouckaert &amp; Gerrit De Geest, ed, Encyclopedia of Law and Economics (Cheltenham, UK: Edward Elgar, 2000).</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
--	--	--	--	--	--

		perspectives as legal philosophy, law and economics, legal history, criminology, law and literature, and feminist analysis. Global in relevance, international in scope, it publishes work by highly regarded scholars from many countries, including Australia, Israel, Germany, New Zealand, the United States and the United Kingdom. The University of Toronto Law Journal is currently ranked first among all general refereed law journals worldwide by the Washington and Lee most cited legal periodicals list, a position that it has held since 2007. UTLJ also received the highest ranking for journal quality from the Australian Research Council and is recommended to British law libraries by the Society of Legal Scholars. The University of Toronto Law Journal appears in numerous legal and social science databases, including Lexis, Westlaw, HeinOnline, JSTOR, Project Muse and SCOPUS.
Revue de droit de McGill McGill Law Journal (Bilingue)	http://lawjournal.mcgill.ca/about.php	La Revue de droit de McGill fut fondée en 1952 par des étudiants de la Faculté de droit de l'Université McGill. Dès ses débuts, elle avait pour objectif de promouvoir le développement de la littérature juridique, tant auprès des avocats et des professeurs qu'auprès des étudiants en droit. Au fil des ans, la Revue a poursuivi dans cette voie et elle continue encore aujourd'hui d'encourager une compréhension plus approfondie des traditions de droit civil	La soumission de manuscrits La Revue invite la soumission d'articles, de chroniques de jurisprudence, de recensions comparatives et de recensions simples en français et en anglais. Les auteurs intéressés à publier leur manuscrit au sein de la Revue peuvent correspondre avec nous en écrivant à journal.law@mcgill.ca. Il nous fera plaisir de répondre aux questions supplémentaires qu'ils pourraient avoir quant aux processus d'évaluation et de rédaction. Directives de soumission La Revue n'impose pas de date limite stricte pour les soumissions en français et accueille des soumissions en tous temps. Cela dit, afin d'être considéré pour publication dans le volume 58 (2012-13), nous vous encourageons à soumettre vos manuscrits avant le 31 août 2012.	Payante, mais l'ensemble des éditions est disponible gratuitement en ligne.	Oui.

	et de common law. Elle est reconnue comme un important forum d'analyse critique des enjeux juridiques contemporains, tant en droit privé et public qu'en droit international. La Revue est une institution bilingue, reflétant ainsi une caractéristique essentielle de la Faculté de droit de l'Université McGill. L'équipe éditoriale est par conséquent composée d'étudiants francophones et anglophones, travaillant à la sélection et à la correction des articles rédigés dans chacune des langues. La Revue possède un statut bijuridique qui lui confère une grande polyvalence. Le Québec étant au carrefour des deux grandes traditions de droit privé, les premiers rédacteurs de la Revue ont tout de suite reconnu son potentiel comme outil de développement de la doctrine civiliste en anglais. Aujourd'hui, la Revue publie, tant en français qu'en anglais, des textes traitant de sujets variés de droit civil et de common law, en accordant une place importante au droit comparé. S'inspirant des revues juridiques de tradition américaine, la Revue est entièrement gérée par des étudiants. Pour assurer la qualité des articles publiés, les articles retenus sont aussi évalués par des pairs, c'est-à-dire par des juristes canadiens et internationaux. Toutes ces caractéristiques font de la Revue une publication renommée et	Veillez S.V.P. lire attentivement les consignes suivantes : 1. Exclusivité de la soumission  La Revue ne considère que des manuscrits qui lui sont soumis de manière exclusive. Tout manuscrit envoyé en évaluation externe est évalué par des juristes compétents qui contribuent à assurer la qualité académique de la Revue en offrant généreusement de leur temps et des efforts pour l'évaluation des textes. A la réception de votre soumission, vous recevrez une confirmation ainsi qu'un échéancier approximatif pour la décision de publication. Veuillez noter que l'auteur-e dont l'article a été accepté pour publication demeure titulaire des droits d'auteur. Cependant, l'auteur-e devra signer une entente conférant à la Revue une licence exclusive pour la première publication de l'article, ainsi qu'une licence non exclusive de reproduction et de distribution de l'article ou d'extraits de celui-ci. Toute reproduction ou republication subséquente de l'article devra indiquer qu'il fut d'abord publié dans notre Revue. De plus, nous vous prions de ne pas publier votre manuscrit ou un extrait de celui-ci en ligne pendant le processus d'évaluation. Il est important de préserver l'anonymat des textes évalués, notamment lorsque ceux-ci sont envoyés à des évaluateurs externes, pour ne pas influencer leur opinion. Si votre texte est déjà en ligne, nous vous demandons de bien vouloir le retirer temporairement. Enfin, vous ne pourrez publier votre article en ligne jusqu'à huit mois après la publication originale dans la Revue. 2. Soumission électronique  De préférence, les soumissions doivent être effectuées en pièces jointes d'un courrier électronique, en format Microsoft Word, à l'adresse suivante : journal.law@mcgill.ca. Elles doivent être accompagnées d'un résumé ou bref synopsis du contenu de l'article dans le courriel principal, ainsi qu'une biographie de l'auteur-e indiquant les affiliations académiques et publications récentes. Les soumissions ne doivent pas contenir d'éléments permettant d'identifier l'auteur-e. Enfin, veuillez noter que les soumissions envoyées par fax ou par courrier ne seront pas considérées. 3. Style de référence  Tout manuscrit soumis à la Revue doit faire usage de notes de bas de page et non de notes de fin de page. Les notes doivent être conformes au Manuel canadien de la référence juridique, 7e édition. Il est important de fournir des citations complètes ainsi que des références précises lorsque le texte le requiert. 4. Résumé et table des matières  Un résumé du manuscrit est requis avec la soumission. De plus, tous les articles, les recensions et les commentaires d'arrêt doivent être accompagnés d'une table des matières. 5. Directives spécifiques au type de soumission  Articles : La Revue accordera une préférence aux articles de moins de 20 000 mots y compris les notes de bas de page. La Revue n'accepte pas de soumissions qui constituent des thèses inachevées ou des chapitres de livres.  Recensions comparatives et recensions simples : les recensions ne peuvent compter plus de 5000
--	--	---	--	--

		respectée. Elle est d'ailleurs reconnue comme étant l'une des publications les plus citées par la Cour suprême du Canada. De plus, la Revue a des abonnés dans plus de quarante pays à travers six continents. Enfin, la Revue contribue activement au développement de la méthodologie juridique canadienne en publiant le Manuel canadien de la référence juridique, qui est devenu l'outil de référence principal en la matière pour la grande majorité des revues de droit canadiennes, ainsi que pour plusieurs instances judiciaires.	mots y compris les notes de bas de page. Les recensions simples portant sur une monographie sont limitées à 1000 mots y compris les notes de bas de page. Chroniques de jurisprudence: les commentaires d'arrêt ne peuvent compter plus de 10 000 mots y compris les notes de bas de page.
Windsor Yearbook of Access to Justice (Publication en français possible)	http://www.uwindsor.ca/law/wyaj/	Created in 1979, the Windsor Yearbook of Access to Justice was the earliest Canadian journal devoted to the trans-cultural and international study of individuals and groups excluded from the protections of the domestic or international legal orders. The Yearbook is independently refereed, publishes French and English essays and book reviews, is faculty-run and is supported by a distinguished Advisory Board. The Yearbook encourages a wide diversity of essays from a broad range of disciplines, such as anthropology, sociology, philosophy, psychology, history and comparative literature as well as law. The Faculty of Law at the University of Windsor publishes the Windsor Yearbook of Access to Justice semi-annually with the assistance of grants from the Ontario Law Foundation and from the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada.	1. Implied Conditions <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The Yearbook is an independently refereed Journal. All contributions will be subject to a critical review by the Board. If the Board decides to proceed further with the manuscript, the manuscript will be subjected to a critical review by external readers. It is rare that a manuscript is accepted without requested changes.</li> <li>Because of the above commitment we ask of our outside referees, the Windsor Yearbook of Access to Justice cannot consider for publication manuscripts being considered by other journals. A submission to the Yearbook will be taken as an implicit promise that the manuscript has not been concurrently submitted elsewhere, has not been accepted for publication elsewhere and will not be submitted elsewhere so long as it is under consideration by the Yearbook. Please refer to Editorial Process.</li> <li>The Editors regret that manuscripts cannot be returned.</li> <li>Due to the costs involved, changes cannot be made by an author once manuscripts have been submitted to the printer.</li> </ul> 2. Form <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Authors should submit either an electronic version by e-mail to (wyaj@uwindsor.ca) or hard copy to Co-ordinator, Windsor Yearbook of Access to Justice, Faculty of Law, University of Windsor, Windsor, Ontario, Canada, N9B 3P4. The preferred word processing software is Microsoft Word.</li> </ul>	Payante.	Non.

		The Yearbook is indexed and abstracted in the following: CSA Sociological Abstracts, Canadian Association of Learned Journals, Current Law Index, Current Law Journal Content, Index to Canadian Legal Literature, Index to Legal Periodicals and Books, IndexMaster, CPI-Q, Hein On-Line, LegalTrac, Lexis-Nexis, Quicklaw, Ulrich's Periodicals Directory, Westlaw &amp; Wilson Web.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The manuscript, including notes and references, should be double-spaced with 1-inch margins. 12 pt Times New Roman is the preferred font. All notes and references should be placed in the footnotes according to the Canadian Guide to Uniform Legal Citation, 7th edition, published by the McGill Law Journal. The Guide dispenses with social science citation style (including any requirement for a bibliography).</li> <li>Authors should ensure that their references and quotations have been checked before submission. The author is responsible for obtaining permission to reprint an illustration, diagram or other figure. Copies of the permission form should be accompany with the manuscript. All necessary credits and acknowledgements should also be included.</li> </ul> 3. Length <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Articles in the Yearbook generally run from 20 to 40 pages (roughly 7,000 to 12,000 words) in length, in 12 point font. Preference will be given to articles that do not exceed 12,000 words although longer articles may on occasion be published.</li> </ul> 4. Abstract <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>In addition to the manuscript itself, the author must submit an abstract of approximately 100 words (a minimum of 100 characters and a maximum of 2,500 characters) in English and/or French.</li> <li>The Abstract may be at the start of the manuscript but it must also be saved as a separate document.</li> </ul> 5. Writing Style <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>In general, the Yearbook follows the Canadian Guide to Uniform Legal Citation, 7th edition (McGill Guide) for citation style. American case citations may follow the American practice. Canadian spelling is preferred in accordance with the Oxford English Dictionary. If the author is in doubt as to whether the form used is correct, send as much information as possible in the note or reference and the Editors will ensure that it is formulated correctly.</li> <li>Notes should be kept to a minimum and used only when necessary. Substantive comments should be featured in the text of the manuscript, not relegated to the footnotes.</li> </ul> Footnotes, rather than endnotes, should be submitted.
ÉTAT-UNIS
NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION	PARAMÈTRES DE SOUMISSION DE TRAVAUX	GRATUITE / PAYANTE	EN LIGNE

Harvard Journal of Law and Technology	http://jolt.law.harvard.edu	Since its inception in 1988, the Harvard Journal of Law &amp; Technology has published writings by academics, practitioners, and policymakers on a variety of topics, including intellectual property, biotechnology, e-commerce, space law, computer law, cybercrime, the Internet, and telecommunications. JOLT is the most cited legal technology journal in the world, and in the top three of all specialty journals, nationwide. During the academic year, the Journal hosts lectures, panel discussions, and an annual Symposium dedicated to promoting knowledge of technology and the law. As technology advances and the law concurrently develops, JOLT will continue to have an influential role in the ongoing interchange between these two fields. This year, JOLT is pioneering a radical new online initiative that will bring together, in one place, all developments in the field of law and technology.	How to Submit an Article The Harvard Journal of Law &amp; Technology (JOLT) accepts all submissions electronically. JOLT has transitioned to a new submissions platform and is now accepting submissions via Scholastica. Please go to https://scholasticahq.com/ to submit articles for consideration. As of February 11, JOLT will no longer accept submissions via Bepress. Please submit the file as a Word (preferred) or PDF file. Manuscripts must be accompanied by the author's address, telephone number, fax (if available), and e-mail address. The author should also include a resume, a letter of introduction, and a short abstract. We do not accept hard copy submissions. If you are unable to submit your article via Scholastica, please contact us at jolt.submissions@gmail.com. Types of Articles Accepted JOLT publishes writings by academics, practitioners, and policymakers on a variety of topics, including intellectual property, biotechnology, e-commerce, cybercrime, the Internet, green energy and cleantech, space law, science and technology policy, and the impact of evolving technologies on legal doctrine and practice. These and other subjects are some of the most exciting and rapidly developing areas of the law. We believe that the dialogue provided by JOLT and other legal journals focused on technology will help shape the future of these important fields. We welcome submissions of articles addressing the relationship of law and technology. While we welcome scholarship on issues of international scope and importance, we prefer articles that focus on the law of the United States. We do not consider articles about the use of technology in legal pedagogy. Please be aware that while we will consider short notes, we prefer full length articles. We are not currently considering unsolicited book reviews or opinion pieces, and we do not accept student work. We consider submissions on a rolling basis throughout the calendar year. However, we encourage authors to submit in the spring or summer to maximize chances of acceptance before our issues fill. Citation Format Citations in all submitted articles should conform to the latest edition of The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation. Please ensure that the submitted article has been fully edited. Incomplete drafts will not be reviewed. Expedite Requests We will conduct expedited reviews for articles with publication offers from other journals. So that we are able to appropriately respond to such requests, authors submitting an expedited review request should specify: (1) their need for consideration on an expedited basis, and (2) the offer deadline from the other journal(s). As with standard submissions, we have a strong preference for expedite requests submitted via Scholastica. If you email us regarding an expedite, please include "expedite" in the subject line of the email. Upon Acceptance	Gratuite.	Oui.
---	--	---	---	--	---

			By submitting an article for consideration, you acknowledge that your article, if accepted by JOLT, will undergo rigorous editing prior to publication. This editorial process ensures that authors' scholarship is presented as professionally as possible. To maintain JOLT's high standards, acceptance of an article by JOLT is conditioned on the author's cooperation during the editorial process. Contact Us          Authors may contact the Submissions Editor at jolt.submissions@gmail.com.
Harvard Journal of Law &amp; Public Policy	http://www.harvard-jlpp.com	The Harvard Journal of Law &amp; Public Policy is published three times annually by the Harvard Society for Law &amp; Public Policy, Inc., an organization of Harvard Law School students. The Journal is one of the most widely circulated student-edited law reviews and the nation's leading forum for conservative and libertarian legal scholarship. The late Stephen Eberhard and former Senator and Secretary of Energy E. Spencer Abraham founded the journal twenty-eight years ago and many journal alumni have risen to prominent legal positions in the government and at the nation's top law firms. secured cash advance Our Board of Advisors includes two U.S. Senators, four U.S. Court of Appeals Judges, and leading conservative and libertarian scholars.	Submissions The Journal welcomes the submission of articles and book reviews. Each manuscript should be typed double-spaced, preferably in the Times New Roman 12-point typeface. Submissions should include the author's CV as well as a cover letter with a word count and short description of the manuscript. The Journal prefers submissions via ExpressO. If necessary, authors may also send manuscripts submitted in duplicate to the address below. secured cash advance Our address: 1541 Massachusetts Avenue Cambridge, MA 02138 Our email: JLPP@mail.law.harvard.edu The Harvard Journal of Law &amp; Public Policy is published three times annually by the Harvard Society for Law &amp; Public Policy, Inc. Views expressed are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Society or of its officers, directors, editors, members, or staff.	Payante, mais les éditions ultérieures à 2005 sont disponibles gratuitement en ligne.	Oui, depuis 2005.
Berkeley Technology Law Journal	http://btlj.org	The Berkeley Technology Law Journal is a student-run publication of the Boalt Hall School of Law, University of California at Berkeley. We started in March 1985, published our first issue in Spring 1986, and have since covered emerging issues of law in the areas of intellectual property, high-tech and	SUBMISSIONS TLJ welcomes previously unpublished <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Articles;</li> <li>• Essays;</li> <li>• Case notes; and</li> <li>• Comments concerning any aspect of the relationship between technology and the law.</li> </ul> BTLJ does not publish book reviews. BTLJ only publishes articles or notes by J.D. candidates as part of the Annual Review (Berkeley Law	Payante, mais l'ensemble des éditions est disponible gratuitement en ligne (certains	Oui.

		biotech. BTLJ strives to keep judges, policymakers, practitioners, and the academic community abreast of this dynamic field. The Journal's membership, typically over 100 students, publishes four issues of scholarly work each year, including the Annual Review of Law and Technology. The Annual Review is a distinctive issue of the Journal published in collaboration with the Berkeley Center for Law and Technology and is dedicated to student-written case notes and comments discussing the most important recent developments in IP, antitrust, cyberlaw, telecom, biotech and business law. In addition, the Journal co-sponsors an annual symposium on an emerging area of technology law. If you are looking for information on how to submit your work to the BTLJ, please visit our submissions page.	students only) and its Notes and Comments Competition. 2011 Notes and Comments Competition Information. FORMAT <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Documents must be submitted electronically via ExpressO in Word file format.</li> <li>• Single-spacing and normal margins preferred.</li> <li>• All citations should conform to The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation (19th ed. 2010).</li> <li>• If any portion of a manuscript has been previously published, the author must so indicate.</li> <li>• Authors must submit CVs or resumes for each author.</li> <li>• Accepted articles average 30-60 pages.</li> </ul> SUBMISSION PROCEDURE &amp; EVALUATION PROCESS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Documents must be submitted electronically via ExpressO. Registration is simple and free.</li> <li>• Evaluation involves scoring by multiple different editors, and rarely lasts fewer than 3-4 weeks.</li> <li>• All requests for Expedited Review must occur via ExpressO.</li> <li>• Decisions will be communicated via ExpressO.</li> <li>• The Editors strongly urge each author to add the confirmation mail's sender-address to a list of accepted senders. Authors should carefully determine if their spam filters are configured intercept BTLJ communications.</li> </ul> AUTHOR CONTRACT The following is a sample of our standard author agreement. Because the contract is entered into with the University of California, BTLJ does not have the power to change its terms. View the Standard Author Agreement (PDF 100Kb). All other inquiries may be sent to the Submissions Editors at: btlj-submissions@law.berkeley.edu.	articles ne sont toutefois pas disponibles).
Stanford Technology Law Review	http://stlr.stanford.edu	The Stanford Technology Law Review (STLR) presents well-rounded analyses of the legal, business, and policy issues that arise at the intersection of intellectual property law, science and technology, and industry. STLR publishes exclusively online, providing timely coverage of emerging issues to its readership base of legal academics and practitioners.	Submissions The Stanford Technology Law Review evaluates articles, notes, and essays which address issues at the intersection of law and technology. The Stanford Technology Law Review accepts submissions by students, scholars, practitioners, and advocates. Electronic Submissions The Stanford Technology Law Review only evaluates submissions made in electronic form. The Stanford Technology Law Review prefers to accept submissions through ExpressO. However, submissions may also be sent directly to stlr-submissions@lists.stanford.edu. Paper submissions are no longer reviewed. Manuscript Specifications All submissions should be in Microsoft Word format. PDF and other text formats are not accepted. The text and citations of submissions should generally conform to The Bluebook: A Uniform System of	Gratuite.	Oui, exclusivment.

			Citation (19th ed. 2010). All submissions should also include a brief abstract and a resume or CV. Cover letters are not required but are permitted. The Stanford Technology Law Review has a word limit of 30,000 words (including footnotes), and a preference for 25,000 words or fewer. We particularly value brevity, so we look favorably on pieces that are significantly below the 30,000-word ceiling. Expedite and Withdrawal Requests  In the event that you receive an alternative publication offer, the Stanford Technology Law Review will expedite review of your submission. To expedite review of a submission, the Stanford Technology Law Review requires the following information: (1) the journal that has given you an offer; (2) when that offer was given; (3) when that offer expires. Requests not providing this information may not be reviewed on an expedited basis. The Stanford Technology Law Review will only expedite review on the basis of actual offers; indications that another journal may or is likely to extend an offer is not sufficient for expedited review purposes. Submissions reviewed on an expedited basis and accepted will be given shorter offer deadlines than articles accepted through the regular review process. If you wish to withdraw your submission from consideration, please use the ExpressO withdraw function or notify the Stanford Technology Law Review directly. Please withdraw submissions as soon as you have accepted an offer elsewhere. Other Issues  Please address any additional questions about the submissions process to stlr-editors@lists.stanford.edu. Please do not e-mail submissions to this address.
The Journal of Legal Studies	http://www.jstor.org/page/journal/jlegalstudies/about.html	The Journal of Legal Studies is a journal of interdisciplinary academic research into law and legal institutions. It emphasizes social science approaches, especially those of economics, political science, and psychology, but it also publishes the work of historians, philosophers, and others who are interested in legal theory. The JLS was founded in 1972.	Manuscript Submission  As of 26 February 2007, authors are encouraged to submit new manuscripts via Editorial Manager at http://jlegalstudies.edmgr.com.  Authors of revised manuscripts that were originally submitted on paper should not submit revisions online. Instead, send a cover letter detailing the revisions and two double-spaced paper copies of the revised manuscript to Maureen Callahan, Managing Editor  Journal of Legal Studies  University of Chicago Law School  1111 East 60th Street  Chicago, IL 60637	Payante.	Non.

			Telephone: (773) 702-9603; Fax: (773) 702-0730  E-mail: m-callahan@uchicago.edu Statement of Policy  Exclusive submission to the Journal of Legal Studies is required. There is no submission fee.  The journal production schedule for each issue is as follows: January Issue <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• July 1 - Final manuscript to JLS office. Your manuscript must be formatted according to our Information for Contributors. It is imperative that you follow the instructions for preparation of your electronic manuscript.</li> <li>• October 1 - Page proofs posted. We will notify you by e-mail when page proofs of your edited article have been posted on our secure website. Download and print the proofs. Review the page proofs carefully, answering all queries and making any corrections legibly in the margins. Return them to the managing editor via courier within 72 hours of receipt.</li> <li>• December 21 - Issue mails. You should receive your offprints three to six weeks after publication.</li> </ul> June Issue <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• December 1 - Final manuscript to JLS office. Your manuscript must be formatted according to our Information for Contributors. It is imperative that you follow the instructions for preparation of your electronic manuscript.</li> <li>• March 2 - Page proofs posted. We will notify you by e-mail when page proofs of your edited article have been posted on our secure web site. Download and print the proofs. Review the page proofs carefully, answering all queries and making any corrections legibly in the margins. Return them to the managing editor via courier within 72 hours of receipt.</li> <li>• May 24 - Issue mails. You should receive your offprints three to six weeks after publication.</li> </ul> Preparing Files for Online Submission  Manuscripts must be in English and must begin with a title page that includes the names, e-mail addresses, and affiliations of all authors.  File formats. The preferred format for submitting manuscripts online is Microsoft Word (.doc files). If you are unable to submit a Microsoft Word file, Editorial Manager will also accept Word Perfect (.wpd), Adobe Acrobat (.pdf), and Rich Text (.rtf) files.  File content. Manuscripts are preferred as separate files for text and for figures. Alternatively, you may submit a single file with figures, tables, and images included in the main document. You must also submit a cover letter in a second file, either in the same format as your main text file or in plain text format (ASCII file). General Specifications  The manuscript should be arranged in the following order:  title page abstract (strict limit of 150 words) text and citations footnotes appendixes tables figure
--	--	--	--	--	--

			legends figures Text <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>For general matters of style, the Journal of Legal Studies follows the Chicago Manual of Style, 15th edition, published by The University of Chicago Press.</li> <li>The Journal of Legal Studies uses the following subheadings (in this order): 1. FULL CAPS 1.1. Caps and Lowercase 1.1.1. Italic Caps and Lowercase</li> <li>For spelling and hyphenation, refer to Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, 11th edition, and the Chicago Manual of Style, 15th edition, especially section 7.82 .</li> <li>Refer to people by first and last name at first mention (Frank Easterbrook) and by only last name thereafter (Easterbrook). Do not use "Professor," "Mr.," or other titles.</li> <li>Please follow the online instructions for preparation of math.</li> <li>Each figure and table must be mentioned in the text in order of its appearance. All figures and tables, including those in appendixes, must be mentioned in the text.</li> </ul> Citations All citations, in text and footnotes, should be in author/date style. Footnotes <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>An acknowledgment note should be included and placed at the beginning of the footnotes. The acknowledgement note should begin with the names, titles, and affiliations of the authors.</li> <li>Footnotes must be substantive and cannot contain purely bibliographic material. Simple citations must be in the text.</li> </ul> Appendixes <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Footnotes in appendixes should be numbered consecutively with those in the rest of the text.</li> <li>Numbering of equations, tables, and figures in appendixes should begin again with 1 (Equation A1, Table A1, Figure A1, and so on, for Appendix A; Equation B1, Table B1, Figure B1, and so on, for Appendix B).</li> </ul> Tables <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Tables should be provided in files separate from the text and should be clearly labeled.</li> <li>Tables follow the style given in chapter 13 of the Chicago Manual of Style and must be formatted according to our guide for electronic tables.</li> <li>No more than one table should appear on a page. Tables may run more than one page.</li> <li>Tables should have brief titles. All explanatory material should be provided in notes at the bottom of the table.</li> <li>Identify all quantities, units of measurement, and abbreviations for all entries. What is clear to you may not be clear to the general reader of the Journal of Legal Studies.</li> <li>Sources should be identified in full at the bottom of each table. Do not give cross-references to footnotes elsewhere in the article.</li> </ul>
--	--	--	--	--	--

			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Significance levels are denoted in separate notes as follows: <math>^+P &lt; .10</math>; <math>*P &lt; .05</math>; <math>P &lt; .01</math>.</li> </ul> Figures <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Figures should be provided in files separate from the text and should be clearly labeled.</li> <li>Do not use shading or color in graphs. If distinctions need to be made visually, please use hatching and cross hatching or another means of display. Grays are difficult to reproduce and often look blotchy in the printed journal.</li> <li>Do not use figure boxes or rules around the figures.</li> <li>Please use the Times Roman font if there is any lettering or text in your figure. Type must be 7 points or larger.</li> <li>Graphics files should not contain any color.</li> <li>Titles to figures should be placed together on a separate double-spaced page labeled Figure Legends.</li> <li>Figures can be no more than 4 inches x 7 inches. To avoid substantial figure reduction, keys to identifying items in the figure should be set within or underneath the figure.</li> </ul> Submitting Your Manuscript Go to http://jlegalstudies.edmgr.com  to submit your manuscript. The system relies on automated processing to create an Adobe Acrobat (.pdf) file from your submission. Step-by-step instructions will guide you through the process, and you should receive an e-mail confirmation from the system when your submission is complete. If you have problems, please contact m-callahan@uchicago.edu for assistance. AFTER ACCEPTANCE After your manuscript has been accepted, it will be edited in accordance with the practice of the Journal of Legal Studies and the University of Chicago Press. Please follow the directions below and return the corrected page proofs to the managing editor via courier within 72 hours. Papers received late may be rescheduled for the next available issue. The corresponding author is responsible for returning the page proofs. The corresponding author is encouraged to share the password for accessing the proofs with all coauthors and is responsible for coordinating all corrections. We will enter corrections only from the corresponding author's proofs. Access your page proofs. We will notify you by e-mail when your page proofs are available on our secure web site. You will be given a password that enables you and your coauthors to access your proofs. Download and print your page proofs. A redlined version is also provided for your reference. Read your proofs. Please read the page proofs carefully and answer all queries addressed to you. (Queries are indicated in the margins by Q1, Q2, Q3, and so on; the queries themselves appear on a separate page at the end of the page proofs.) Make all changes directly on the page proofs-and please write legibly! Pay close attention to the
--	--	--	---	--	--

			appearance of figures and to special characters such as Greek letters and mathematical symbols, which can be altered during conversion to our editing programs. All textual changes must be indicated on the page proofs and not on the redlined version. If you wish to rewrite or add significant portions of text, please e-mail those sections to the managing editor (address below) when you return your proofs. You will not see your paper again before publication, so all changes must be made at this time Order your offprints. As a contributor to the journal, you will receive 50 free offprints of your article. You may also order additional offprints at your own expense. (Please note that the 50 free offprints are offered per article- not per author. If you have coauthors, you may wish to order additional offprints for them.) Please visit the following URL to place your order for off-prints: www.sheridan.com/UChicagoPress/eoc If you have questions about ordering reprints, please contact Gail Hallman at 1-800-635-7181, ext. 8175, or ghallman@tsp.sheridan.com. Return your proofs. Please return the page proofs to the managing editor via courier within 72 hours of receipt. Do not return the redlined version. Maureen Callahan, Managing Editor Journal of Legal Studies University of Chicago Law School 1111 East 60th Street Chicago, IL 60637
Cornell Journal of Law and Public Policy	http://www.lawschool.cornell.edu/research/JLPP/	Founded in 1991, the Cornell Journal of Law and Public Policy (JLPP) has quickly risen to become one of the leading public policy journals in the nation. A fixture among the top 10 policy journals, JLPP has consistently been among the top 100 student-edited law journals. JLPP publishes articles, student notes, essays, book reviews, and other scholarly works that examine the intersections of compelling public or social policy issues and the law. As a journal of law and	SUBMISSIONS The Journal is no longer accepting submissions for Volume 22. The Journal will begin reviewing submissions for Volume 23 in early February 2013. The Cornell Journal of Law and Public Policy encourages unsolicited submissions. The Journal publishes three issues each year (Fall, Spring, Summer), and submissions are reviewed and accepted on a rolling basis. Footnotes and citations should adhere to The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation (19th ed.). Text should follow the Texas Law Review: Manual on Usage, Style &amp; Editing (11th ed.). Unfortunately, the Journal cannot return submissions. Also, please note that the Journal does not accept submissions from current JD candidates. ELECTRONIC SUBMISSIONS: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The Journal prefers submissions be made through ExpressOTM.</li> </ul> MAILED SUBMISSIONS:	Payante, mais les volumes 1 et 6 à 22 sont disponibles gratuitement en ligne.	Oui.

		policy, we are a publication that not only analyzes the law but also seeks to impact its development. Many of our published pieces address emerging issues in contemporary society that are being debated not just in academia, but also in courtrooms, the media, and the broader political arena. This practical focus has helped make JLPP attractive to a wide audience. Part of JLPP's success comes from our commitment to diversity of opinion on a wide variety of topics. Along with works by well-known legal scholars, we strive to publish thought-provoking pieces written by distinguished policy-makers such as then-Senator Joseph Biden, Congressman Dick Armey, noted defense attorney William Kuntsler, economist Walter Williams, and Attorney General Janet Reno. The remainder of our success comes from the dedication of our editors. During the first year on JLPP, Associate Editors are responsible for assisting in the editing of pieces chosen for publication. We publish three issues a year in print, and are currently in the process of expanding our Internet presence. Additionally, Associate Editors write an original Note on a legal topic involving law and public policy. This expansive and dynamic field covers a wide variety of subject matter from which to choose a Note topic, and we are proud of the diversity of our student-authored works. Upon elevation, Associate Editors are eligible	Senior Acquisitions Editor Cornell Journal of Law &amp; Public Policy Cornell Law School Myron Taylor Hall Ithaca, NY14853 Expedited Review:  Authors who have received an offer from another journal and who face a response deadline from that other journal may request an expedited review of their submission. To request an expedited review: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• E-mail our Senior Acquisitions Editor</li> </ul> Your request should include the following information: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Author's name</li> <li>• Author's e-mail address</li> <li>• Title of the submission</li> <li>• Other journals that have accepted the submission</li> </ul> Date by which review is requested
--	--	---	---	--	--

		to submit Notes for publication. JLPP generally publishes six student Notes in print each year. Participating on a journal is an invaluable and rewarding experience. While undoubtedly a large responsibility, it is also very gratifying. As a member of a journal, each student will be introduced to, and learn about, a variety of legal issues while further developing individual editing, writing, and research skills. However, it is the sense of commitment, to the journal and to one's peers, that makes the experience truly worthwhile. In addition to the formal aspects of our work, being on JLPP is a great way to get to know fellow classmates. Each year we hold a number of social events to provide Journal members an opportunity to interact outside of the academic setting. Our current Editorial Board is an energetic and interesting group of individuals from a wide variety of backgrounds. We are enthusiastic about JLPP, and we look forward to welcoming new members in the upcoming academic year. Please do not hesitate to direct any questions you may have to editorinchief@jlpp.org.
Yale Journal of Law and Technology	http://yjolt.org	What is YJoLT? YJoLT is the only law review at Yale Law School to offer a fully interactive	Submissions The Yale Journal of Law &amp; Technology publishes scholarly articles on a wide range of topics concerning	Gratuite.	Oui, mais seulement les

		publication environment, as well as the only Yale law review to study the immensely important interaction between law and technology. We publish lectures and articles related to law and technology biannually. For potential authors : We publish articles on a very wide range of topics related to the intersection of law and technology. You can peruse the articles of past issues on this website and if you are interested in publishing with YJoLT, please check out our Submissions section.	the intersection of law and technology. YJoLT takes a very broad view on the meaning of technology, but successful entries should include an analysis of technology's impact on the law, or vice versa. YJoLT accepts article submissions through email at yjolt.submissions@gmail.com, by completing the form below, or through Berkeley Electronic Press (BEPress). Our preferred submissions method is through BEPress, but we will review all articles regardless of the method in which they are submitted. Articles must be at least 10,000 words (including footnotes), but preference will be given to articles under 25,000 words. Articles should conform to the citation guidelines of The Bluebook. General criteria used to evaluate submissions include originality, strength of support, and clarity of writing. YJoLT accepts submissions from all authors.		volumes 4 et ultérieurs .
Michigan Telecommunications and Technology Law Review	http://www.mttl.org/html/home.html	Founded in 1994, Michigan Telecommunications and Technology Law Review was one of the first law journals to use interactive media to promote informed discourse about the interrelated legal, social, business, and public policy issues raised by emerging technologies. As one of the original online law journals in the world, MTTLR is a ground-breaking publication. MTTLR publishes online and printed volumes, available through subscription. MTTLR is available through Lexis-Nexis, Westlaw, and this web site. The Michigan Telecommunications and Technology Law Review's primary purpose is to examine the tensions created by advances in computing, telecommunications, biotechnology, multimedia, networking, information and other technologies.	Submissions The Michigan Telecommunications and Technology Law Review invites all professors, attorneys, government officials, industry participants, and other individuals active in the field of technology law and policy to submit scholarly articles and essays for publication. MTTLR is a light-edit law review and prefers submissions fewer than 25,000 words in length, including footnotes. Law students are also invited to submit student notes for publication. MTTLR accepts submissions throughout the year and publishes semi-annually. MTTLR strongly prefers to receive submissions of articles and essays through ExpressO, a service of the Berkeley Electronic Press. Alternatively, persons interested in submitting a piece for publication should send a copy of the manuscript and a resume or letter of introduction, electronically (preferably in Microsoft Word format with a .doc extension), to:	Payante, mais l'ensemble des éditions est disponible gratuitement en ligne.	Oui.

Law and Contemporary Problems	http://lcp.law.duke.edu	Law and Contemporary Problems was founded in 1933 and is the oldest journal published at Duke Law School. It is a quarterly, interdisciplinary, faculty-edited publication of Duke Law School. L&amp;CP recognizes that many fields in the sciences, social sciences, and humanities can enhance the development and understanding of law. It is our purpose to seek out these areas of overlap and to publish balanced symposia that enlighten not just legal readers, but readers from these other disciplines as well. L&amp;CP uses a symposium format, generally publishing one symposium per issue on a topic of contemporary concern. Authors and articles are selected to ensure that each issue collectively creates a unified presentation of the contemporary problem under consideration. L&amp;CP hosts an annual conference at Duke Law School featuring the authors of one of the year's four symposia.	Citations Citation to Law and Contemporary Problems articles should be made according to The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation (19th ed. 2010) with the addition of the season of publication within the parenthetical clause for the date of publication (e.g., Author, Title, 70 LAW &amp; CONTEMP. PROBS. 1 (Winter 2007)). [...] For additional information, contact the Publications Department at 919-613-7160 or e-mail journals@law.duke.edu.	Payante, mais l'ensemble des éditions est disponible gratuitement en ligne.	Oui.
Yale Law and Policy Review	http://yalelawandpolicy.org	Founded in 1982, the Yale Law &amp; Policy Review (YLPR) is a biannual publication of the Yale Law School dedicated to publishing legal scholarship and policy proposals by judges, lawmakers, practitioners, academics, and students. Past YLPR contributors include Justices Ruth Bader Ginsburg, John Paul Stevens, and Clarence Thomas; Vice President Al Gore; Secretaries of State Hillary Clinton	Print Edition YLPR accepts only electronic submissions and strongly prefers receiving submissions via the ExpressO system, which can be accessed at http://www.law.bepress.com/expresso. Topics: YLPR publishes legal scholarship on a wide variety of topics that address a combination of legal and policy-oriented issues. YLPR strongly prefers publishing scholarship that includes both descriptive and normative analyses and a policy recommendation or critique. YLPR editors also favor pieces that include some discussion of, or otherwise relate to, United States law and policy. Such scholarship might focus solely on the United States or offer a comparative international approach.	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.

		and Cyrus Vance; Senators Bill Frist, Ted Kennedy, Joe Lieberman, and Arlen Specter; Ambassador John Negroponte; and Professors Richard Epstein, Harold Koh, Robert Post, and Cass Sunstein. YLPR Online is a cutting-edge forum for shorter, timely legal scholarship at the intersection of law and policy. For more information, please contact Editors-in-Chief Nicholas Nasrallah and Jonathan Soleimani at ylpr@yale.edu.	Length: YLPR strongly prefers Articles under 25,000 words (including footnotes) and will publish manuscripts over 25,000 words only under exceptional circumstances. In general, Essays are shorter pieces of legal scholarship (around 15,000 words including footnotes). YLPR accords the same weight to Articles as to Essays but distinguishes the two on the basis of scope and length. Students enrolled at the Yale Law School may submit Notes, which cannot exceed 15,000 words (including footnotes), Comments or Book Reviews, which cannot exceed 3000 words (including footnotes). For more information, please contact the Managing Editor, Ravi Ramanathan, at ravi.ramanathan@yale.edu. Review Process: YLPR reviews submissions on a rolling basis throughout the semester, beginning in September for the Spring Issue and beginning in January for the Fall Issue. The review process proceeds in two stages: (1) the YLPR Submissions Committee reviews all submissions and selects pieces to float to the YLPR membership; (2) the full YLPR membership votes on which submissions to accept for publication. The Editors-in-Chief will contact an author immediately upon acceptance. Expedite Requests: If an author has received a formal offer of publication from another journal and would like YLPR to expedite review of that piece, please contact the Editors-in-Chief at ylpr@yale.edu. When requesting an expedited review, please include the following information: (1) author's name and the manuscript title; (2) name of the journal that has extended an offer; (3) date that the offer expires; (4) contact information of a contact person at that journal/review. YLPR will attempt to honor all requests for expedited review for which the above information is provided. YLPR Online The Yale Law &amp; Policy Review is proud to announce the launch of YLPR Online, an online companion to the print version of YLPR. The purpose of YLPR Online is to serve as a cutting-edge online forum for shorter, timely scholarship at the intersection of law and policy. Submissions must be no longer than 2,000 words (excluding footnotes). YLPR Online seeks submissions that directly and incisively engage with current policy issues or respond to recent scholarship at the intersection of law and policy. In particular, we are looking for submissions that are timely, "op-ed like," and highly normative. Please send your submissions to the Managing Editor, Ravi Ramanathan, at ravi.ramanathan@yale.edu with the subject line "YLPR Online Submission - [First Name] [Last Name]." Questions about submission procedures and topical guidelines should be sent to the Executive Online Editor, Eileen Zelek, at eileen.zelek@yale.edu.
Santa Clara Computer &amp; High	http://digitalcommons.law.scu.edu/chtlj/	The Santa Clara Computer & High Technology Law Journal is an	Who Can Submit? Anyone may submit an original article to be considered for publication in Santa Clara Computer &amp; High	Payante.	Non.

Technology Law Journal		independent scholarly legal publication founded in 1984 by the students of Santa Clara University School of Law. For over twenty-five years, the Journal has achieved national and international circulation and recognition as a leading forum for multidisciplinary discourse on emerging issues at the juncture of technology, the law, and public policy. The Journal's subscribers include leading law libraries, law firms, and corporations worldwide. A significant number of federal courts and state supreme courts are also regular subscribers to the Journal, including the U.S. Supreme Court and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.	Technology Law Journal provided he or she owns the copyright to the work being submitted or is authorized by the copyright owner or owners to submit the article. Authors are the initial owners of the copyrights to their works (an exception in the non-academic world to this might exist if the authors have, as a condition of employment, agreed to transfer copyright to their employer). General Submission Rules Submitted articles cannot have been previously published, nor be forthcoming in an archival journal or book (print or electronic). Please note: "publication" in a working-paper series does not constitute prior publication. In addition, by submitting material to Santa Clara Computer &amp; High Technology Law Journal, the author is stipulating that the material is not currently under review at another journal (electronic or print) and that he or she will not submit the material to another journal (electronic or print) until the completion of the editorial decision process at Santa Clara Computer &amp; High Technology Law Journal. If you have concerns about the submission terms for Santa Clara Computer &amp; High Technology Law Journal, please contact the editors. Formatting Requirements Santa Clara Computer &amp; High Technology Law Journal has no general rules about the formatting of articles upon initial submission. There are, however, rules governing the formatting of the final submission. See Final Manuscript Preparation Guidelines for details. Although bepress can provide limited technical support, it is ultimately the responsibility of the author to produce an electronic version of the article as a high-quality PDF (Adobe's Portable Document Format) file, or a Microsoft Word, WordPerfect or RTF file that can be converted to a PDF file. It is understood that the current state of technology of Adobe's Portable Document Format (PDF) is such that there are no, and can be no, guarantees that documents in PDF will work perfectly with all possible hardware and software configurations that readers may have.
New York University Review of Law &amp; Social Change	http://socialchange.nyu.com	At the height of the political turmoil of the late 1960s, a group of activist students and professors at N.Y.U. School of Law came together and discussed the ways in which legal scholarship could respond to the injustices suffered by those relegated to society's margins. These students and faculty felt that the dominant legal discourse found in countless law reviews failed to address sufficiently the gross inequities that existed (and continue to exist) along the	Submissions Social Change invites authors to submit manuscripts that pertain to the relationship between law and contemporary social issues. We regret that submitted manuscripts cannot be returned. Social Change follows the text and footnote citation rules set forth in A Uniform System of Citation (18th ed. 2005) ("The Bluebook"). For stylistic matters not addressed by The Bluebook, Social Change refers to The Chicago Manual of Style (15th ed. 2003). Signed student works are cited without reference to the designation of the work as a note or comment. In order to further Social Change's commitment to gender equality, contributors are expected to use feminine pronouns for the third person singular when the pronoun is used generically. However, Social Change may make exceptions to this policy on a case-by-case basis with due regard to the subject	Payante, mais les éditions ultérieures à 2007 sont disponibles gratuitement en ligne.	Oui, depuis 2007.

		lines of race, gender, class, sexuality, age, and ability. The response of these students and academics was to establish the N.Y.U. Review of Law &amp; Social Change. As the foreword to the first issue states, Social Change was “created to provide an outlet for student scholarship and analysis in areas of the law of particular interest to socially concerned attorneys.” That first issue contained four student-written articles, the commitments of the authors reflected in their topics: ineffective assistance of counsel for the poor, tactics for squatters in abandoned New York City buildings, reformation of laws regarding retaliatory evictions, and the legality of maximum grant regulations for welfare recipients. As stated in the foreword to that first issue, the founding members of Social Change sought to “provide a forum for law students at New York University, and perhaps others, who are anxious to develop creative solutions through law to social problems.” Over the past thirty years, Social Change has remained true to that commitment, while growing in scope and stature. Originally an annual publication, Social Change now publishes four issues per year. In addition to publishing the work of N.Y.U. students, we also now publish articles by nationally-recognized scholars, legal practitioners, and activists. Social Change also provides a space in which members of the law school	matter of the article. Minimum word count for all articles is 6,000 words. Articles may be submitted to:  Articles Editor  N.Y.U. Review of Law &amp; Social Change  D’Agostino Hall 110 West 3rd Street  New York, NY 10012 Articles may be submitted to the N.Y.U. Review of Law &amp; Social Change through the express online delivery system: ExpressO. For those authors who do not have access to ExpressO, submissions, in Microsoft Word or PDF format, may be sent to nyu.rlsc.submissions@gmail.com. community can come together to socialize, network, and organize. A variety of progressive student groups use Social Change as everything from a home-base to a storage facility. On any given day in our offices you may see students wrapping presents for a gift drive, organizing a public service auction, planning a sit-in, making posters for a protest, or drafting a habeas petition for a client.
--	--	--	---	--	--

Duke Law and Technology Review	http://dltr.law.duke.edu	The Duke Law &amp; Technology Review (DLTR) is an online legal publication that focuses on the evolving intersection of law and technology. This area of study draws on a number of legal specialties: intellectual property, business law, free speech and privacy, telecommunications, and criminal law—each of which is undergoing doctrinal and practical changes as a result of new and emerging technologies. DLTR strives to be a “review” in the classic sense of the word. We examine new developments, synthesize them around larger theoretical issues, and critically examine the implications. We also review and consolidate recent cases, proposed bills, and administrative policies. DLTR has adopted the Principles of the Science Commons Open Access Law Program .	Writing an Article <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Topic: DLTR will consider the publication of any article relating to the intersection of technology and the law. The editorial board encourages submissions that provide a unique perspective on the most current issues in the field, or which can add to our readers’ understanding of a historical or ongoing issue.</li> <li>• Format: A DLTR article contains the following general sections: abstract, introduction, background, argument, and conclusion. We suggest that prospective authors refer to published articles as templates. An ideal article is catchy and grabs the reader’s attention in the opening paragraph. DLTR will not, however, ignore or downplay the importance of taking the time to painstakingly edit and to properly cite according to the Bluebook (19th ed.).</li> <li>• Style: DLTR is intended to reach a wide audience, drawing interest not only from legal scholars but also from legal practitioners, technology professionals, and the public at large. Consequently, the editorial board seeks submissions which are not only the product of sound scholarship but which cater to the interests and background of our audience. A good article will address a timely issue, and persuasively and rationally present the merits of its argument. The editorial board strongly encourages the rhetorical use of vivid metaphor, the sympathetic presentation of parties to a dispute, and a sound discussion of the implications of the issue.</li> <li>• Length: There is no word or page limit for articles, but the majority of accepted submissions fall within the range of 10-30 pages including footnotes.</li> </ul> Due to the volume of submissions we receive, we regret that we cannot respond individually to each applicant.	Gratuite.	Oui.
Columbia Science and Technology Law Review	http://www.stlr.org	The Columbia Science and Technology Law Review (STLR) deals with the exciting legal issues surrounding science	Submissions The Columbia Science and Technology Law Review is currently accepting standard review-sized articles	Oui.	Oui, depuis 2005.

		and technology, including the Internet, biotechnology, nanotechnology and telecommunications law. Recent articles have discussed robust notice and informed consent in spyware legislation, the need for international regulation of nanotechnology, and the effect of a recent court decision on innovation in the pharmaceutical industry. STLR publishes twice a year. We focus on quality over quantity, helping us achieve the #4 rank among all tech law journals in Washington and Lee Law Library's 'Impact Factor' ranking. If you'd like to submit your article for consideration, please see our submissions page. We're a successful traditional law journal, but we're also constantly looking to use technology and the Web to make our journal more relevant and more interesting. We were the first Columbia journal with a blog, publishing not just on our own site but also on top technology blogs like Gizmodo and Engadget. And we were the first Columbia journal to become formally Open Access, giving our authors the broadest possible exposure for their work by eliminating unnecessary barriers to readership. Most of our staff members have a technical or scientific background, frequently as undergrads but sometimes with PhDs and work experience in relevant fields. We follow the traditional Columbia Law School procedures for	and shorter commentaries written by scholars, practitioners and students on any topic relating to science or technology and its effect on law and social policy. There are several reasons why you should publish your paper with us: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• We publish only the most influential articles – Washington and Lee Law Library's widely used 'Impact Factor' rating (a measure of citations per article published) ranks us as the third best technology law journal from 2000-2007.</li> <li>• We carry the Columbia name – as one of the most prestigious law schools in the country, this name carries significant weight.</li> <li>• Columbia's terrific technology and intellectual property faculty. We feel strongly that, given our faculty, Columbia's reputation as a technology law center will only be growing in years to come, and STLR is always seeking to work with them – both to get ideas from them and to alert them to the work of our authors. That will benefit you in the long run.</li> <li>• Our strong online presence. We're a formal Open Access journal, and have been purely online since day one. In addition to publishing on Lexis, Westlaw, and other digital repositories, we also realize more and more readers research and find content through search engines like Google. We want to distribute your paper to the widest possible audience of interested readers, which today means putting it online and sacrificing some of the control exercised by traditional journals. Open access research in other social sciences suggests that papers published in this manner get more citations than papers published only through traditional channels. In addition, our status as the first Columbia journal to publish through the Columbia Library Academic Commons means we're the first to take advantage of archival-quality online publishing, and we expect that in the future it will bring us better data feeds, optional automatic email notifications when new pieces get published, and integration of our blog content, so that Google improves our search rankings – and hence the rankings of your paper.</li> </ul> If you decide to submit your paper to us, we ask that it meet the following conditions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Articles should be submitted by e-mail to submissions@stlr.org;</li> <li>• Citations should be in strict conformity with the Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation (18th edition); and</li> <li>• Submissions should include author contact information – address, phone number, fax and email address.</li> </ul> Our mailing address is:  The Columbia Science and Technology Law Review Jerome Greene Hall Columbia Law School 435 West 116th Street New York, New York 10027 journal admission. Interested students should visit our site in the spring for more information.
--	--	---	--	--	--

Law & Social Inquiry	http://www.americanbarfoundation.org/publications/lawsocialinquiry.html	The American Bar Foundation sponsors a quarterly, interdisciplinary, peer-reviewed academic journal, Law &amp; Social Inquiry, which is published by Wiley-Blackwell Publishing. Laura Beth Nielsen is the current Editor of the journal and Howard S. Erlanger is the Review Section Editor. Contributors include legal academics and social scientists from around the world. Past articles have been awarded such distinctions as the 2011 Law &amp; Society Article Prize and have earned the journal an impressive impact factor from the Journal Citation Report (JCR). Law &amp; Social Inquiry's content is diverse and wide-ranging and represents some of the finest scholarly contributions from respected authors such as Bryant Garth and Yves Dezalay. For more information on Law &amp; Social Inquiry's scope, manuscript submission and review policies, and style guide, please visit our Scope &amp; Submission Details page. For additional information on Law and Social Inquiry subscription rates and journal information visit our site at Wiley-Blackwell Publishing. Law &amp; Social Inquiry accepts manuscripts year-round through our submission portal, ScholarOne Manuscripts. LSI publishes original empirical and theoretical studies of law	Law &amp; Social Inquiry accepts manuscripts year-round through our submission portal, ScholarOne Manuscripts. LSI publishes original empirical and theoretical studies of law that contribute to the understanding of sociolegal processes. The content is diverse and multidisciplinary, including topics based in: Anthropology, Criminology, Economics, History, Law, Philosophy, Political Science, Sociology and Social Psychology. LSI strongly prefers submissions to adhere to a 15,000 word limit, including footnotes and endnotes. Please be sure to include these in your word count when saving your file for submission. If your manuscript is over 15,000 words, please submit a cover letter with your submission explaining the length. We will allow up to 17,500 words for papers using qualitative, historical, narrative, or multiple methodologies. Articles are typically reviewed by three or more referees and decisions on manuscripts are made by the editors. Original manuscripts spend anywhere from three to five months under review. Upon submission, please make sure your manuscript has been properly formatted. All manuscripts must be submitted as a Word document and all text (abstract, references, body text, notes) must be double-spaced, Times New Roman 12 pt. font. The margins should be set to 1.5" on all sides, the main document must not have a title page (a title page can be uploaded separately and designated as "Title Page" in the right-hand drop-down list on the Scholar One upload page). All headers and footers must not contain any author names to allow for blinded review. If you have any questions about the submission system you can contact our Editorial Office (lsi-abf@abfn.org). For technical difficulties, contact the ScholarOne Help Desk at 1-888-503-1050 or submit a support ticket by clicking the "Get Help Now" link, located at the top of the user dashboard and then click the "Contact Us" icon. For other inquiries regarding the journal, please contact our Editorial Office at lsi-abf@abfn.org. For additional information, feel free to visit our page at Wiley-Blackwell.	Gratuite.	Oui.

		that contribute to the understanding of sociolegal processes. The content is diverse and multidisciplinary, including topics based in: Anthropology, Criminology, Economics, History, Law, Philosophy, Political Science, Sociology and Social Psychology.
Northwestern Journal of Technology and Intellectual Property	http://scholarlycommons.law.northwestern.edu/njtip/	The Northwestern Journal of Technology and Intellectual Property is among the top ranked intellectual property and technology journals in the country. The Journal addresses subjects relating to intellectual property and the intersection of law and technology and publishes articles on a variety of topics including: copyright, trademark, patents, the Internet, media, telecommunications, health care, antitrust, e-discovery, and trial and litigation technology. The online format of the Journal permits these rapidly developing issues to be addressed in a timely manner by combining scholarly analyses with an up-to-date examination of the most recent changes in intellectual property and technology law. To accomplish this goal, the Journal publishes three full issues each year and four perspectives issues. Perspectives issues contain shorter articles detailing a first perspective on a recent intellectual property or technology development or offering a new perspective on more developed issues within the law. The Northwestern Journal of Technology and Intellectual Property is proud to be featured in the prestigious Intellectual	Submissions The Editors of the Journal welcome submissions for publication consideration. Deadline: All manuscripts sent by e-mail and post for consideration by the Journal are evaluated on a rolling basis. Upon request, the Journal may grant expedited reviews providing authors with a decision within 48 hours of submission. Please contact Jeremy Adler, Jonathan Gunn, or Amber Jackson, Executive Editors, for the Journal's expedited review policy. Contact Information: Please send your submission electronically, by e-mailing the manuscript as a Word attachment to njtip@nlaw.northwestern.edu, or mail it to the following address: Northwestern Journal of Technology and Intellectual Property Northwestern University School of Law 357 East Chicago Avenue Chicago, IL 60611-3069 Format: All submissions should be double-spaced with one-inch margins. Each submission should include an abstract and a table of contents. The Journal uses Microsoft Word for all word-processing. Accordingly, all manuscripts must be submitted in Microsoft Word format. If you are submitting via postal mail, the Journal requests that you supply and submit one paper copy of the manuscript and one electronic copy on a 3 1/2 inch PC-compatible floppy disk or a PC-compatible CD-ROM. All footnoted text should be double-spaced and numbered serially. The journal uses footnote standard citing, and all footnotes and citations to authority should conform to The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation, Eighteenth Edition, published by the Harvard Law Review Association. Content: The Editors of the Journal seek submissions in the area of intellectual property law - particularly copyrights, entertainment law, Internet law, patents, comments on pending legislation or recent IP case decisions, telecommunications, trademarks, and trade secrets. In addition to notes, comments, and	Gratuite.	Oui.

		Property Law Review for its publication of Inter Partes Reexamination and Improving Patent Quality by Robert Shang. Mr. Shang's article is considered among the most influential intellectual property articles published in 2009. Authors interested in publishing with the Journal should examine our submissions page. The Journal is dedicated to the analysis of the burgeoning body of academic, business, newsworthy and legal issues regarding the rapidly increasing and shifting field of intellectual property and technology law. Because intellectual property and technology law is an interdisciplinary field, this Journal addresses law at the intersection of domestic and international economics, ethics, and medicine, to name but a few, including but not limited to law and biotechnology, copyrights, the Internet, media, patents, telecommunications, and trademarks. The format of this Journal, which combines the traditional scholarship of law Journals with timely news features, best serves the Journal's mission to provide timely news and multidisciplinary legal scholarship by academics, policymakers and attorneys on a variety of emerging and/or important intellectual property and technology topics. The Journal does this by uniting the conventional Journal elements of articles, working papers, comments, and book reviews with the advantages of an online Journal,	scholarly articles, we are also accepting submissions of shorter, approximately 500-2,000 word "perspectives" pieces. Examples of perspectives pieces include a short comment on a recent important development or issue in IP law, or an analysis of an interesting current IP case. Our Journal is published online, and the scholarly articles, case notes, comments, and working papers will be disseminated in electronic search databases such as LexisNexis and Westlaw. Publication: It is the policy of the Journal not to publish articles that have appeared or are to appear in other publications. Accordingly, all manuscripts should be submitted with the understanding that the Journal possesses the exclusive right of original publication. For various clerical reasons, the Journal requests that each author assign copyright to the Northwestern University School of Law for the collected work. While permitting the author unlimited use of the article, it offers the author the ordinary copyright protection. Copyrights will be taken out in the name of Northwestern University School of Law, and requests for permission to reprint your article will be processed by Northwestern University School of Law. A total of twenty-five reprints are supplied gratis to the author or authors of each article. Additional reprints may be obtained by arrangement with the Editors of the Journal prior to publication, or by arrangement with the printer after publication.
--	--	--	---	--	--

		including news articles, interviews, columns, a connection to intellectual property and technology events at Northwestern Law, and more. The Journal provides insightful and timely perspectives on intellectual property and technology law, an important area in the academic, legal and business communities. Students involved with the Journal gain specialized knowledge of intellectual property and technology law, work with practitioners who provide valuable professional connections, gain leadership experience and Web site skills, and improve their legal research, writing and editing abilities. The Board of Advisors is an important resource for ideas about articles and news pieces, and provides connections to experts and leaders in those areas.
Virginia Journal of Law and Technology	http://www.vjolt.net	The Virginia Journal of Law and Technology (VJOLT) is a student-run publication of the University of Virginia School of Law. It is one of the Law School's newest, and most dynamic, journals. VJOLT was established in 1996 by students who sought to enhance the focus at the Law School on issues arising from the intersection of law and technology. An interested and energetic group of students founded VJOLT, and Virginia thus joined the ranks of Harvard, Boalt Hall, Columbia, and other top law schools with technology journals.	The Journal is pleased to accept submissions from members of the legal and scientific communities with experience and insights into issues at the intersection of the law and technology. We prefer to receive submissions by email for the sake of mutual convenience. Please attach the article as Word document or PDF along with a résumé or C.V., a cover letter if desired, and a brief abstract of the article (&lt;250 words). Submissions must use standard bluebook citation form, and typically run 5,000 to 20,000 words in length. We are also happy to accept submissions through ExpressO, an electronic submission service of the Berkeley Electronic Press, and through SSRN, an electronic submission service administered by the Social Science Research Network. We do not accept hard copy submissions by postal mail. Thank you for your interest in the Virginia Journal of Law &amp; Technology.	Gratuite.	Oui.

		The Journal publishes its issues exclusively online at www.vjolt.net and is indexed on Lexis and Westlaw. This arrangement provides VJOLT with greater worldwide exposure, lower cost, and the ability to publish in a more timely fashion than most print journals. The articles published in VJOLT examine legal issues arising as the result of innovative technological change. Recent topics have included the Internet's effect on the practice of law; genetically modified foods in the developing world; the regulation of online hate speech; privacy issues relating to personal information, genetic data, and face recognition technology; and ownership controls in the new entertainment economy. Recent articles have incorporated aspects of communications law, employment law, civil procedure, electronic commerce, evidence, and antitrust. The Journal's topical scope is as broad as society itself, for the ripple effects of technology's evolution can be felt in every area of law, regulation and politics. The issues that arise are truly cutting-edge and comprise many of the growth areas in professional practice and academic scholarship today. Current members have backgrounds in areas such as English literature, engineering, philosophy, physics, and political science, and career interests ranging from intellectual property to civil liberties to corporate transactions. Membership in the Journal is determined by the Unified Journal Tryout conducted during the spring semester of the
--	--	---	--	--	--

		students' first year in law school. The Law School's eight law journals jointly administer the tryout process, which involves both writing and editing components. New members begin their involvement with the Journal by completing cite-checks of the manuscripts that the Journal publishes, starting with the production of the summer issue. The majority of the cite-check process is handled electronically through the use of Lexis, Westlaw, and e-mail. As 2Ls, Journal members apply during the spring semester for positions on the Managing Board; they then hold those positions through their third year at the Law School. If you have any questions, please feel free to talk to any of the current managing board and editorial board members, or e-mail us at vjolt@vjolt.net.
ROYAUME-UNI
NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION	PARAMÈTRES DE SOUMISSION DE TRAVAUX	GRATUITE / PAYANTE	EN LIGNE
International Journal of Law and Information Technology	http://ijlit.oxfordjournals.org	The International Journal of Law and Information Technology provides cutting-edge and comprehensive analysis of Information Technology, Communications and Cyberspace law as well as the issues arising from applying Information and Communications Technologies (ICT) to legal practice. International in scope, this journal has become essential for legal and computing professionals and legal scholars of the law related to IT.	Authors are required to state that the piece submitted has not been sent to any other journal, as the editors will not consider submissions sent to other journals in any form. Authors must also ensure that they have the relevant Intellectual Property Rights to publish the material contained in their submissions and have not copied someone else's work without the relevant permissions and attribution. All articles must be submitted online through Scholar One Manuscripts. The online submission process is straightforward. If you haven't used Scholar One Manuscripts (formerly Manuscript Central) before, first you must register as a new user (see top right hand menu on Scholar One Manuscripts, below 'New User'). Once registered as a new user, click on 'login' and then upload your manuscript in the Author Center of Scholar One Manuscripts. If you experience problems, instructions can be found here.	Payante.	Oui.

			Authors will be notified as soon as possible of the Editors' decision on the acceptability of their paper. The Editors will be happy to advise in advance on the suitability of a synopsis of the proposed article. PREPARATION  Manuscript files should be submitted in Microsoft Word or rtf format. They should include the author's details, including title and job description and affiliations as these are to appear in the Journal; address, telephone, fax and e-mail details. Each paper should contain an Abstract no longer than 150 words, as well as 5–10 keywords.  When the files are ready, please follow the Online Submission instructions. STYLE REQUIREMENTS  This journal follows The Oxford Standard for Citation Of Legal Authorities (OSCOLA) style. OSCOLA is designed to facilitate accurate citation of authorities, legislation, and other legal materials. Please ensure your manuscript adheres to OSCOLA by using our mini style checklist. For the full OSCOLA style guide, see: http://denning.law.ox.ac.uk/published/oscola.shtml FOOTNOTES AND REFERENCES  Footnotes should be numbered consecutively and should not be embedded within the text. References should be included in the footnotes. Authors are responsible for checking the accuracy of all footnotes and references. PROOFS AND OFFPRINTS  Authors will receive proofs of their article for correction. No major changes are permissible at this stage and alterations should be limited to typographical errors only. Authors should return corrected proofs to the Publisher within 48 hours of receipt. Offprints can be purchased using the Oxford Journals Author Services site at the same time as signing your licence to publish. LANGUAGE EDITING  Particularly if English is not your first language, before submitting your manuscript you may wish to have it edited for language. This is not a mandatory step, but may help to ensure that the academic content of your paper is fully understood by journal editors and reviewers. Language editing does not guarantee that your manuscript will be accepted for publication. If you would like information about one such service please click here. There are other specialist language editing companies that offer similar services and you can also use any of these. Authors are liable for all costs associated with such services.
Social &amp; Legal Studies	http://sls.sagepub.com	Social & Legal Studies is a leading international journal, publishing progressive, interdisciplinary and critical approaches to socio-legal study. The journal is committed to feminist, post-	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Peer review policy Social &amp; Legal Studies is a peer reviewed journal.</li> <li>Article types</li> </ol>	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.

		colonial and socialist economic perspectives to the study of law. It offers an intellectual space where diverse traditions and critical approaches within legal study meet, and aims to promote greater understanding of work being carried out in less academically dominant countries.	Social &amp; Legal Studies publishes papers and book reviews. Papers should preferably be written in English, although foreign language papers will be considered. Papers should not have been published already, nor be currently under consideration elsewhere. The maximum length should be 10,000 words, including notes and references. Each paper should come with the following information on a separate sheet: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. title of paper, date and word count;</li> <li>2. author's full name, affiliation, institutional and email address, telephone and fax numbers;</li> <li>3. an abstract of 150 to 200 words;</li> <li>4. a list of 5 to 8 key words.</li> </ol> Empirical data Social &amp; Legal Studies positively welcomes articles which report and reflect on the findings of empirical research undertaken by authors. However, we recommend that the following issues are addressed in articles prior to submission: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The methodology used and reasons for choosing this particular approach;</li> <li>• The methods adopted including choice of sample;</li> <li>• How participants were selected and why;</li> <li>• Whether any ethical issues arose in the course of data collection and how these were addressed;</li> <li>• A brief description of how data was analysed.</li> </ul> Dialogue and Debate section In 1998, Social &amp; Legal Studies introduced an occasional Dialogue and Debate section as a feature of the journal. The aim of the section is to encourage focussed discussion and engagement on important critical and socio-legal topics in a briefer and more flexible format than the normal 10,000 word essay. Possible formats for the Dialogue and Debate section include: direct dialogue through correspondence, shorter discussions around specific themes, extended book reviews and review articles with an author's response where appropriate, rejoinders to published papers and 'country reports' on the state of critical and socio-legal studies. The section might include a longer paper with a series of short responses, individual notes of up to 2000 words, or a grouped set of shorter thematized papers. All contributions would be subject to editorial review. If you have any suggestions which you think might fit within this format, or would like more details, then please contact Emiliios Christodoulidis (e.christodoulidis@law.gla.ac.uk). Book reviews should be submitted electronically to Sharon Cowan (s.cowan@ed.ac.uk). Books for review should be sent to: Sharon Cowan, School of Law, University of Edinburgh, Old College, South Bridge, Edinburgh EH 9YL, UK or Maleiha Malik, School of Law, King's College London, The Strand, London WC2R 2LS. 3. How to submit your manuscript Before submitting your manuscript, please ensure you carefully read and adhere to all the guidelines and instructions to authors provided below. Manuscripts not conforming to these guidelines may be returned.
--	--	---	--	--	--

			Social &amp; Legal Studies is hosted on SAGE track a web based online submission and peer review system powered by ScholarOne? Manuscripts. Please read these manuscript submission guidelines, and then simply visit http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/sls to login and submit your article online. IMPORTANT: Please check whether you already have an account in the system before trying to create a new one. If you have reviewed or authored for the journal in the past year it is likely that you will have had an account created. For further guidance on submitting your manuscript online please visit ScholarOne Online Help. All papers must be submitted via the online system. If you would like to discuss your paper prior to submission, please contact the Lead Editor, Carl Stychin (c.f.stychin@reading.ac.uk). 4.1 SAGE Choice and Open Access If you or your funder wish your article to be freely available online to non subscribers immediately upon publication (gold open access), you can opt for it to be included in SAGE Choice, subject to payment of a publication fee. The manuscript submission and peer review procedure is unchanged. On acceptance of your article, you will be asked to let SAGE know directly if you are choosing SAGE Choice. To check journal eligibility and the publication fee, please visit SAGE Choice. For more information on open access options and compliance at SAGE, including self author archiving deposits (green open access) visit SAGE Publishing Policies on our Journal Author Gateway. Social &amp; Legal Studies and SAGE take issues of copyright infringement, plagiarism or other breaches of best practice in publication very seriously. We seek to protect the rights of our authors and we always investigate claims of plagiarism or misuse of articles published in the Journal. Equally, we seek to protect the reputation of the Journal against malpractice. Submitted articles may be checked with duplication-checking software. Where an article is found to have plagiarised other work or included third-party copyright material without permission or with insufficient acknowledgement, or where the authorship of the article is contested, we reserve the right to take action including, but not limited to: publishing an erratum or corrigendum (correction); retracting the article (removing it from the journal); taking up the matter with the head of department or dean of the author's institution and/or relevant academic bodies or societies; banning the author from publication in the journal or all SAGE journals, or appropriate legal action. 5. Declaration of conflicting interests Within your Journal Contributor's Publishing Agreement you will be required to make a certification with respect to a declaration of conflicting interests. Social &amp; Legal Studies does not require a declaration of conflicting interests but recommends you review the good practice guidelines on the SAGE Journal Author Gateway. 6. Other conventions
--	--	--	---	--	--

		None applicable. 7. Acknowledgements  Any acknowledgements should appear first at the end of your article prior to your Declaration of Conflicting Interests (if applicable), any notes and your References.  All contributors who do not meet the criteria for authorship should be listed in an `Acknowledgements? section. Examples of those who might be acknowledged include a person who provided purely technical help, writing assistance, or a department chair who provided only general support. Authors should disclose whether they had any writing assistance and identify the entity that paid for this assistance. 7.1 Funding Acknowledgement  To comply with the guidance for Research Funders, Authors and Publishers issued by the Research Information Network (RIN), Social &amp; Legal Studies additionally requires all authors to acknowledge their funding in a consistent fashion under a separate heading. Please visit Funding Acknowledgements on the SAGE Journal Author Gateway to confirm the format of the acknowledgment text in the event of funding or state in your acknowledgments that: This research received no specific grant from any funding agency in the public, commercial, or not-for-profit sectors. 8. Permissions  Authors are responsible for obtaining permission from copyright holders for reproducing any illustrations, tables, figures or lengthy quotations previously published elsewhere. For further information including guidance on fair dealing for criticism and review, please visit our Frequently Asked Questions on the SAGE Journal Author Gateway. 9. Manuscript style 9.1 File types .  Only electronic files conforming to the journal's guidelines will be accepted. Preferred formats for the text and tables of your manuscript are Word DOC, RTF, XLS. LaTeX files are also accepted. Please also refer to additional guideline on submitting artwork below. 9.2 Journal Style  Social &amp; Legal Studies conforms to the SAGE house style. Click here to review guidelines on SAGE UK House Style. 9.3 Reference Style  Social &amp; Legal Studies adheres to the SAGE Harvard reference style. Click here to review the guidelines on SAGE Harvard to ensure your manuscript conforms to this reference style.  If you use EndNote to manage references, download the SAGE Harvard output style by following this link and save to the appropriate folder (normally for Windows C:\Program Files\EndNote\Styles and for Mac OS X Harddrive:Applications:EndNote:Styles). Once you've done this, open EndNote and choose
--	--	---	--	--

			‘Select Another Style...’ from the dropdown menu in the menu bar; locate and choose this new style from the following screen. Cases cited Where appropriate, please supply a separate double-spaced list if cases cited. 9.4. Manuscript Preparation The text should be double-spaced throughout and with a minimum of 3cm for left and right hand margins and 5cm at head and foot. Text should be standard 10 or 12 point. 9.4.1 Your Title, Keywords and Abstracts: Helping readers find your article online The title, keywords and abstract are key to ensuring readers find your article online through online search engines such as Google. Please refer to the information and guidance on how best to title your article, write your abstract and select your keywords by visiting SAGE’s Journal Author Gateway Guidelines on How to Help Readers Find Your Article Online. 9.4.2 Corresponding Author Contact details Provide full contact details for the corresponding author including email, mailing address and telephone numbers. Academic affiliations are required for all co-authors. These details should be presented separately to the main text of the article to facilitate anonymous peer review. 9.4.3 Guidelines for submitting artwork, figures and other graphics For guidance on the preparation of illustrations, pictures and graphs in electronic format, please visit SAGE’s Manuscript Submission Guidelines. Figures supplied in colour will appear in colour online regardless of whether or not these illustrations are reproduced in colour in the printed version. For specifically requested colour reproduction in print, you will receive information regarding the costs from SAGE after receipt of your accepted article. 9.4.4 Guidelines for submitting supplemental files Social &amp; Legal Studies does not currently accept supplemental files. 9.4.5 English Language Editing services Non-English speaking authors who would like to refine their use of language in their manuscripts might consider using a professional editing service. Visit English Language Editing Services on our Journal Author Gateway for further information. 10. After acceptance 10.1 Proofs We will email a PDF of the proofs to the corresponding author.
--	--	--	--	--	--

			10.2 E-Prints SAGE provides authors with access to a PDF of their final article. For further information please visit http://www.sagepub.co.uk/authors/journal/reprint.sp. 10.3 SAGE Production At SAGE we place an extremely strong emphasis on the highest production standards possible. We attach high importance to our quality service levels in copy-editing, typesetting, printing, and online publication (http://online.sagepub.com/). We also seek to uphold excellent author relations throughout the publication process. We value your feedback to ensure we continue to improve our author service levels. On publication all corresponding authors will receive a brief survey questionnaire on your experience of publishing in Social &amp; Legal Studies with SAGE. 11. Further information Any correspondence, queries or additional requests for information on the manuscript submission process should be directed to the Lead Editor, Carl Stychin (c.f.stychin@reading.ac.uk).
Information &amp; Communications Technology Law	http://www.tandfonline.com/toc/cict20/current#.Ubl0wL8c4y5	The last decade has seen the introduction of computers and information technology at many levels of human transaction. Information technology (IT) is now used for data collation, in daily commercial transactions like transfer of funds, conclusion of contract, and complex diagnostic purposes in fields such as law, medicine and transport. The use of IT has expanded rapidly with the introduction of multimedia and the Internet. Any new technology inevitably raises a number of questions ranging from the legal to the ethical and the social. Information &amp; Communications Technology Law covers topics such as: the implications of IT for legal processes and legal decision-making and related ethical and social issues; the liability of	Note to Authors: please make sure your contact address information is clearly visible on the outside of all packages you are sending to Editors.  Manuscripts , preferably between 4000 and 7000 words, should be sent to the Editor, Professor Indira Carr, University of Surrey, Faculty of Management and Law, Austin Pearce Building, Guildford GU2 7XH. Email: imcarr@btinternet.com ; accompanied on a separate sheet by a short abstract of 100-150 words. Manuscripts failing to conform to the following guidelines will not be considered for publication. Particular care in the presentation of references would be greatly appreciated by the Editorial Board and the publisher. All contributors should be aware they are addressing an international audience. Three complete copies of the manuscript should be submitted, typed double-spaced on one side of the paper. It is essential the email and postal address be given of the author who will receive editorial correspondence, reprints and proofs. Electronic Submissions. Authors should send the final, revised version of their articles in both hard copy paper and electronic disk forms. It is essential that the hard copy (paper) version exactly matches the material on disk. Please print out the hard copy from the disk you are sending. Submit three printed copies of the final version with the disk to the journal's editorial office. Save all files on a standard 3.5 inch high-density disk. We prefer to receive disks in Microsoft Word in a PC format, but can translate from most other common word-processing programs as well as Macs. Please specify which program you have used. Do not save your files as "text only" or "read only".	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.

		programmers and expert system builders; computer misuse and related policing issues; intellectual property rights in algorithms, chips, databases, software etc; IT and competition law; data protection; freedom of information; the nature of privacy, legal controls in the dissemination of pornographic, racist and defamatory material on the Internet; network policing; regulation of the IT industry; problems of computer representation and the computational semantics of law; the role of visual or image-based legal ‘mental models’; general public policy and philosophical aspects of law and IT. The journal invites articles, national reports and case notes on the above and related topics. All submissions are independently refereed. The journal is published three times a year with one issue a year devoted to a particular theme. Forthcoming special issues will focus on intellectual property issues and Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR).	If your article is accepted by the journal, you will be asked to complete this form and send it to the editor with your revised or final version. Figures and tables should have their positions clearly marked and be provided on separate sheets that can be detached from the main text. The captions to figures should be listed in one group and be provided on a separate sheet. Figure and table numbers should be shown as Arabic numerals. Wherever possible please avoid the numbering of headings and subheadings; such detailed numbering, as in a legal document, is both inappropriate and unnecessary in a journal article. Style guidelines Description of the Journal's article style , Quick guide This journal follows the 2012 T&amp;F Standard APA style. Description of the Journal's reference style , Quick guide Any consistent spelling style is acceptable. Use single quotation marks with double within if needed. If you have any questions about references or formatting your article, please contact authorqueries@tandf.co.uk (please mention the journal title in your email). Word templates Word templates are available for this journal. If you are not able to use the template via the links or if you have any other queries, please contact authortemplate@tandf.co.uk Free article access: Corresponding authors will receive free online access to their article through our website and a complimentary copy of the issue containing their article. Reprints of articles published in this journal can be purchased through Rightslink® when proofs are received. If you have any queries, please contact our reprints department at reprints@tandf.co.uk Copyright and authors’ rights It is a condition of publication that authors assign copyright or license the publication rights in their articles, including abstracts, to Taylor &amp; Francis. This enables us to ensure full copyright protection and to disseminate the article, and of course the Journal, to the widest possible readership in print and electronic formats as appropriate. Authors retain many rights under the Taylor &amp; Francis rights policies, which can be found at http://journalauthors.tandf.co.uk/preparation/copyright.asp . Authors are themselves responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce copyright material from other sources. Exceptions are made for certain Governments’ employees whose policies require that copyright cannot be transferred to other parties. We ask that a signed statement to this effect is submitted when returning proofs for accepted papers.
European Journal of Law and	http://ejlt.org/about	We are interested in topics which relate generally to European issues in	SUBMISSION PREPARATION CHECKLIST As part of the submission process, authors are required to check off their submission's compliance with	Gratuite.	Oui.

Technology		information and technology law. Articles submitted might cover topical issues in intellectual property, media, use of technology in governance and legal education, crime, commerce, human rights issues, jurisprudence etc. The journal will consider articles which cover more international aspects – such as developments in the international context - but these should be written in a comparative manner, and be of interest to a European readership. Articles which look at non-European issues in law and technology should consider publishing in Law, Social Justice and Global Development Journal (LGD) which is a sister publication, also publishing as an open access journal, however we are happy to consider such articles where they compare and contrast with European approaches. EJLT is interested in medium length and larger length articles. We usually prefer a length of 8,000 words to 12,000 words, but will accept longer articles of sufficient quality or where the author is prepared to cover costs of extra proofing. We follow the practice of JILT and welcome commentaries. These are shorter articles which are not peer reviewed, but are of interest to the readership. Topics may well cover comments on a single case, a series of cases, educational technology issues (developments in software, perhaps), or notes on developments which the author feels should be brought to the attention of the readership, but where a fully	all of the following items, and submissions may be returned to authors that do not adhere to these guidelines. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The submission has not been previously published, nor is it before another journal for consideration (or an explanation has been provided in Comments to the Editor).</li> <li>• The submission file is in Microsoft Word, RTF, or WordPerfect document file format.</li> <li>• Where available, URLs for the references have been provided.</li> <li>• The text is single-spaced; uses a 12-point font; employs italics, rather than underlining (except with URL addresses); and all illustrations, figures, and tables are placed within the text at the appropriate points, rather than at the end.</li> <li>• The text adheres to the stylistic and bibliographic requirements outlined in the Author Guidelines, which is found in About the Journal.</li> </ul> If submitting to a peer-reviewed section of the journal, the instructions in Ensuring a Blind Review have been followed. [...] PEER REVIEW PROCESS EJLT is primarily a refereed journal though we will publish non-refereed Commentaries. To be accepted as a refereed articles there must be strong support from at least two referees that the article is novel and important. However, we realise that referees will frequently have conflicting perspectives upon an article and where conflict of views occurs, the final decision on suitability and academic quality of the article will be made by the editorial team. EJLT does not promote any particular view of law and/or technology, and is happy to publish articles of any perspective so long as they are well argued, and of suitable nature and quality.
--------------------------	--	--	--	--	--

		developed article is not yet available. Students undertaking research projects may also find the commentary section useful to provide a short overview of their findings. Book reviews have ironically declined as book publishing has increased. Although we will publish reviews in the traditional sense, we will also consider short synopsis type articles from authors who wish to promote their own published books which are of relevance and potential interest to the readership. These will not be peer reviewed. EJLT will also consider a series of articles which are published together as a 'Special Issue'. The proposed editors of such a series should contact the EJLT editorial team as early as possible to ensure a publication slot is made available. The reviewing process is still applicable to special issues, but this will be carried out in conjunction with the special editors who have a particular role in ensuring the quality of the issue they edit remains high. Where an article does not provide a novel perspective (e.g. 'review articles') we are prepared to publish so long as the article provides a useful, critical insight to a field.
EUROPE CONTINENTALE
NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION	PARAMÈTRES DE SOUMISSION DE TRAVAUX		GRATUITE / PAYANTE
					EN LIGNE

Revue Lamy Droit de l'Immatériel	http://www.wkf.fr/fiche-produit/editions-lamy/immateriel/519-revue-lamy-droit-de-immateriel.html	Prolongement naturel de la Collection Droit de l'Immatériel que constituent le Lamy Droit de l'Informatique et des Réseaux et le Lamy Droit des Médias et de la Communication, cette revue, comprise dans l'abonnement aux deux ouvrages, présente et analyse les dernières évolutions du droit des "créations immatérielles" (propriété littéraire et artistique, propriété industrielle) et du droit des "activités de l'immatériel" (audiovisuel, presse, informatique, télécommunications, réseaux, commerce électronique). L'actualité législative, réglementaire et jurisprudentielle, toujours très dense, est commentée chaque mois par les meilleurs experts : rien ne vous échappe ! La Revue Lamy Droit de l'Immatériel, support fondamental de réflexion juridique, vous propose également tous les mois, signés par des spécialistes de renom, des études, réflexions croisées, illustrations pratiques, entretiens...	N/A.	Payante.	Non.
Revue du Droit des Technologies de l'Information	http://www.rdti.be	La Revue du Droit des Technologies de l'Information (R.D.T.I.) est une revue trimestrielle. Le droit des technologies de l'information acquiert chaque jour plus d'importance dans la vie des praticiens du droit. La Revue, née il y a 10 ans au Centre de Recherche Information, Droit et Société (CRIDS) de la Faculté de droit de Namur, balaye l'actualité du droit des technologies de l'information en allant au-delà d'une approche descriptive. Les	Vous désirez collaborer à la "Revue du Droit et des Technologies de l'Information" ? Ce service vous permet de nous soumettre vos différentes propositions d'articles, de décisions ou de commentaires. Nous vous invitons à nous les exposer par courrier électronique à la rdti.auteurs@larcier.be. Nous examinerons avec attention tout projet et ne manquerons pas de vous contacter.	Payante.	Non.

		contributeurs offrent en effet des analyses approfondies des questions juridiques auxquelles les praticiens sont confrontés. Le formidable essor qu'ont connu les technologies de l'information dans notre société suscite un intérêt grandissant pour les enjeux qui en résultent. Les problématiques sont souvent inédites, aussi nécessitent-elles un travail juridique créatif. La Revue du Droit des Technologies de l'Information accueille une doctrine innovante provenant d'auteurs reconnus. La jurisprudence y trouve une place et donne lieu à des notes d'observations éclairantes. Quant aux évolutions législatives nationales et européennes, elles sont mises en perspective dans des contributions analytiques. Elle offre également une chronique législative et jurisprudentielle bisannuelle. La Revue constitue donc un instrument indispensable pour de nombreux juristes. Les avocats spécialisés s'y nourriront d'articles approfondis, les généralistes, pour leur part, maîtriseront en une seule publication cette discipline juridique en pleine expansion. Quant aux académiques, leurs recherches les mèneront inmanquablement vers une revue aux exigences scientifiques élevées. Prenant le parti d'une publication en langue française, l'ambition de la rédaction internationale est de constituer un véritable corpus francophone de
--	--	--	--	--	--

		doctrine relative au droit des technologies de l'information. La Revue s'adresse donc autant au lectorat belge que français, canadien, Luxembourgeois, africain francophone ou suisse.
International Review of Law, Computers and Technology	http://www.tandfonline.com/toc/cirl/20/current	International Review of Law, Computers &amp; Technology is an international review devoted to the study of both the principles and practices bearing on the interaction of computers, other new technologies, and the law. The rapid advances made by technology are radically changing the face of our society. New media now exist in areas such as the creation and the distribution of information and entertainment. They must still be governed by law but which laws are relevant, and which new laws need to be established? Peer Review Policy: All research articles in this journal have undergone rigorous peer review, based on initial editor screening and anonymized refereeing by two anonymous referees.	Notes for Contributors Papers, which normally should not exceed 5,000 words including footnotes, should be sent electronically in Microsoft Word to the Managing Editor Dr Kenneth Russell at intrevlct@btinternet.com or, where indicated, to the Special Edition Guest Editor. Stylistic suggestions Layout All submissions will be sent anonymously for the observations of referees. The first sheet should include only the title of the paper indicating content, name(s) of the author(s), academic and/or professional qualifications as commonly used by the author(s), main appointments, postal and email addresses. An abstract of not more than 200 words, which should briefly indicate the overall argument should be provided beneath, along with 3 keywords. All pages should be numbered. Proofs for checking will normally be sent to the corresponding author, unless otherwise indicated. Easy reading : Sentences and paragraphs should be kept to readable length for readers unfamiliar with your particular theme. Aim for a maximum of 6–7 sentences per paragraph. When abbreviating for the first time the acronym used is preceded by the words it represents. Thereafter the acronym by itself can be used. Headings : Please insert several headings (bold initial cap only), within which you can use subheadings (bold italic initial cap only). As a rough guide, we would like approximately 3–5 headings for every thousand words. Each one should start on a new line. These should not be preceded by numbers. Notes : These should only be used for making substantive points and be kept to a minimum, by integrating essential points into the main text. They should be marked clearly in the text and should follow any punctuation mark except for the dash, which it precedes. Notes are listed consecutively at the end of the paper, not as footnotes to manuscript pages. The notes should appear at the end of the article. Citations/references in the text : All references should follow Chicago author-date style. Details of this	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.

		reference style can be found here: Journal reference style Please try to put citations at the end of a sentence, not in the middle, for easier reading. Quotations : Quotations should be enclosed with single quote marks, or with double marks for quotes within quotes. Long quotations should be indented, not enclosed in quote marks. Illustrations may be inserted at the appropriate place in the text. All photographs, graphs and diagrams should be referred to as Figures and should be numbered consecutively in the text in Arabic numerals (e.g. Figure 3) and carry a caption. Tables may be inserted in the appropriate place in the text and should be numbered consecutively in the text in Arabic numerals (e.g. Table 3). And carry a caption. Proofs. In order not to delay publication proofs will be sent electronically to corresponding authors and must be returned within the time stated. If proofs are not received in time the Editor’s corrections will be given. Proofs including proofs of illustrations are supplied for checking and making essential corrections, not for general revision or alteration. Proofs should be corrected and returned within 48 hours of receipt. Reprints. Corresponding authors will receive free online access to their article through our website ( http://tandfonline.com ) and a complimentary copy of the journal containing their article. Reprints of articles published in International Review of Law, Computers &amp; Technology can be purchased through Rightslink® when proofs are received or alternatively on our journals website. If you have any queries, please contact our reprints department at reprints@tandf.co.uk. Copyright and authors’ rights. It is a condition of publication that all contributing authors grant to Taylor &amp; Francis the necessary rights to the copyright in all articles submitted to the Journal. Authors are required sign an Article Publishing Agreement to facilitate this. This will ensure the widest dissemination and protection against copyright infringement of articles. The “article” is defined as comprising the final, definitive, and citable Version of Scholarly Record, and includes: ( a ) the accepted manuscript in its final and revised form, including the text, abstract, and all accompanying tables, illustrations, data; and ( b ) any supplemental material. Copyright policy is explained in detail at http://journalauthors.tandf.co.uk/permissions/reusingOwnWork.asp  Authors are themselves responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce copyright material from other sources. Back Issues . Taylor &amp; Francis retains a three year back issue stock of journals. Older volumes are held by the official stockists: Periodicals Service Company, http://www.periodicals.com/tandf.html, 11 Main
--	--	---	--	--

			Street, Germantown, NY 12526, USA, to whom all orders and enquiries should be addressed. Telephone: +1 518 537 4700; Fax: +1 518 537 5899; Email: psc@periodicals.com
AUSTRALIE
NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION	PARAMÈTRES DE SOUMISSION DE TRAVAUX	GRATUITE / PAYANTE	EN LIGNE
Melbourne University Law Review	http://www.law.unimelb.edu.au/mulr/melbourne-university-law-review	The Melbourne University Law Review is one of Australia's leading generalist law journals. Submissions to the Review are subject to independent, anonymous peer review prior to acceptance for publication. The Review is published three times a year and is managed by an Editorial Board comprising students of the Melbourne Law School at The University of Melbourne. The Review publishes articles on all areas of law, as well as case notes, book reviews and review essays. The Review also publishes shorter comment-style pieces in the Critique and Comment section. Occasionally, the Review produces a symposium edition devoted to a particular aspect of law. Past symposium editions of the Review have focused on the centenary of federation, contemporary human rights in Australia, and tort law.	Submissions The Review welcomes submissions on all areas of law. Academics, legal practitioners and law students within Australia and overseas are encouraged to submit. Submitting an Article to the Review To submit an article to the Review, please: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Download and complete a copy of the Review's publication policy;</li> <li>2. Email your submission, in Microsoft Word or Rich Text format, along with your completed Publication Policy, to law-mulr@unimelb.edu.au</li> </ol> Further information about submissions is below. Information for contributors The Review publishes three issues per year. Deadlines for submissions are 31 December, 30 April and 31 August. The next deadline for submissions is 31 August 2013 for issue 37(3) of the 2013 volume. The advisory word limit for submissions is 8000 to 12 000 words (excluding footnotes and headings). Shorter comment-style pieces, case notes and book reviews are also welcome. Submissions should also include an abstract of approximately 120 words. Prospective contributors are requested to submit manuscripts in electronic form by email attachment in Microsoft Word or Rich Text Format. All articles appearing in the Review are refereed by at least two anonymous referees. All publication decisions are made by the Editors of the Review, who are law students at the University of Melbourne. Publication Policy All authors are required to complete a copy of the Review's Publication Policy, a copy of which is available on this website. In accordance with the Publication Policy, the Review has an exclusive submissions policy and does not accept manuscripts that are currently under consideration by other publications or have been previously published, in whole or in part, elsewhere. The Editors will not consider any manuscript until a completed copy of the Review's Publication Policy is returned by the author.	Gratuite.	Oui.

			The Editors request that contributors remove submissions from publicly accessible sources, including internet sources such as SSRN, until a decision on publication has been made. This is to ensure anonymity in the referee process. Submissions accepted for publication may be posted on SSRN prior to the printing of the issue with the Editors' permission. Citation Guide Citation in the Review is governed by the Australian Guide to Legal Citation which is produced and published by the Melbourne University Law Review Association, in collaboration with the Melbourne Journal of International Law. To assist with the editorial process, it is strongly preferred that submissions are formatted in accordance with the AGLC. Bibliographies should be excluded. Citations should be in the form of footnotes. A Quick AGLC intended to assist authors can be found here. The full Australian Guide to Legal Citation can be ordered or downloaded (view-only version) here. Open Access Policy The Review supports open access. Recent articles published in the Review appear free of charge on austlii.edu.au (in html format) and on the Review's website (in searchable pdf format). In accordance with the Review's Publication Policy, authors may also publish the searchable pdf format of their article on SSRN or an equivalent database, without obtaining the consent of the Editors, so long as no fee is charged to access that database. Authors may do so immediately upon receiving the final pdf file of their article from the Editors; they do not need to wait any particular length of time after the print edition has been released. In accordance with the Review's Publication Policy, authors must obtain the Editors' consent if they wish to republish their article in a larger published collection or on an online forum that users access for a fee. As noted above, to facilitate the double blind refereeing process, the Review requires contributors to remove submissions from publicly accessible sources for the duration of the referee process. Review Process The Review's submission process has several steps. The Editorial Board reviews every manuscript that is received. The Board then determines, on the basis of a number of considerations, whether or not to send the manuscript to referees. Not every manuscript is sent to referees. The decision not to send a manuscript to referees is made after consulting the Review's Faculty Advisers. Manuscripts that proceed past the initial stage then undergo a double blind refereeing process in which they are reviewed by at least two experts in that subject matter. The Board makes publication decisions on the basis of those referee reports. Although we endeavour to provide authors with a timely decision on their submission, the referee process can take time. We suggest that authors allow 8-10 weeks for a decision from the date the Review receives the manuscript and completed Publication Policy.
--	--	--	---	--	--

The Sydney Law Review	http://sydney.edu.au/law/slr/	The Sydney Law Review, established in 1953, is a peer reviewed journal of high repute, with a wide readership in Australia and internationally. It is published quarterly by the Sydney Law School. The Review publishes articles, case notes and book reviews. Emphasising Australian law, the Review is committed to publishing articles that are comparative, topical and make an original contribution to legal scholarship. The Sydney Law Review's 'Before the High Court' section is a forum for Australia's leading academics to comment upon cases that are currently awaiting hearing by the High Court of Australia.	INFORMATION FOR AUTHORS <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Manuscripts may be submitted by email to the Sydney Law Review cc to Justine Bashford. We prefer documents in the latest version of Word.</li> <li>2. The Sydney Law Review does not consider articles which have been either submitted to, or substantially published in, any other publication. This policy includes online publication of a finished piece, but does not cover exposure or comment drafts of pieces that have been substantially rewritten since.</li> <li>3. All submissions are assessed by at least one academic referee with expertise in the relevant field, as well as by all members of the Sydney Law Review Editorial Board. The process usually takes between 8 and 12 weeks. Authors are notified immediately of the board's decision. Please be aware that there can sometimes be delays if reviews come in late.</li> <li>4. Please note: Our preferred length is 8000–12 000 words (including footnotes). Articles over 12 000 words in length (including footnotes) are less likely to be accepted for publication. Articles over 16 000 words (including footnotes) will not be considered.</li> <li>5. Submissions must include an abstract of 100–200 words.</li> <li>6. The text and citations must conform to the Australian Guide to Legal Citation (3rd edition), which can be accessed as a read only PDF here.</li> <li>7. The author's name should appear at the beginning, under the title of the article. After the author's name an asterisked footnote should be added, giving the author's present position. Uncommon abbreviations should be explained, and footnotes numbered consecutively. The Sydney Law Review is committed to the use of gender-neutral language.</li> <li>8. Before the High Court Guidelines and Book Review Guidelines are available below.</li> <li>9. Copyright of articles published in the Sydney Law Review is vested in the Sydney Law Review and its contributors. Apart from any fair dealing for the purposes of private study, research, criticism or review as permitted under the Copyright Act, no article or part may be reproduced by any process without written permission. Inquiries should be directed to the Sydney Law Review.</li> <li>10. All authors are required to sign an author agreement prior to publication.</li> </ol> Revised: 2 May 2013	Payante, mais les éditions ultérieures à 2003 sont disponibles en ligne gratuitement.	Oui.
Alternative Law Journal	http://www.altlj.org/	The Alternative Law Journal is a quarterly, refereed law journal published by the Legal Service Bulletin Co-	The Alternative Law Journal welcomes contributions for publication in five categories: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• articles up to 4000 words with preference given to shorter articles</li> <li>• briefs up to 1000 words</li> </ul>	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les

		operative Ltd in Melbourne, Australia. The AltLJ is administered by volunteers, is independent of any organisation or political party, and is self funding. The Co-operative is most appreciative of the support provided by the Law Faculty, Monash University in Melbourne, where the journal is based. The Alternative Law Journal was first published in 1974 as the Legal Service Bulletin by the Fitzroy Legal Service in Melbourne, Australia. The journal grew quickly into a publication serving a much wider readership. The name was changed in 1992 to better reflect its goals and readership. The goals of the AltLJ can be broadly described as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• promotion of social justice, human rights and law reform issues</li> <li>• critique of the legal system</li> <li>• monitoring developments in alternative legal practice</li> <li>• community legal education.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• columns (variable lengths)</li> <li>• law &amp; culture reviews up to 800 words</li> <li>• mentions 100 - 150 words</li> <li>•</li> </ul> Articles and Briefs are welcome on a wide range of legal and social issues, for example, social justice, access to justice, the administration of justice, the environment, critical legal education, law reform, community lawyering, human rights, crime, family law, welfare law, freedom of information, refugee and immigration law, equal opportunity and anti-discrimination law, Indigenous rights, women's rights, disability rights, sexual identity and the law, the Asia/Pacific region, race and the law, children's rights, consumer rights, workers' rights, rural and regional issues, social security law and issues relating to marginalised or disadvantaged people or groups. The journal is national and while articles and briefs may cover an issue in one state, it is desirable that comparisons are drawn with other jurisdictions, particularly in articles. Articles should generally focus on, or have an Australasian or comparative context. It is preferred that articles/Briefs take a critical perspective and are written in plain English. Heavy, scholarly or overly legalistic articles are not encouraged. Casenotes, if they are simply reportage are not encouraged, but articles/briefs which take a critical or analytical perspective on interesting cases are welcome. Our readership is not only lawyers but a broad range of professional, government, academic and student readers. We see our niche as being somewhere between law journals and the mainstream media. We particularly discourage excessive footnotes. Style In general, the Alternative Law Journal follows the conventions specified in the Australian Guide to Legal Citation (3rd edn) - http://mulr.law.unimelb.edu.au/go/AGLC3. Subheadings and structure: We use two levels of subheadings: (1) bold caps and lower case, and (2) bold italic caps and lower case. No numbering of sections, parts or headings is used. The structure should be kept simple. Lists of points are most often introduced by bullets but can be in the form (a), (b), (c) if they need to be referred back to. Quotations: Material quoted from other sources which is more than four lines in length should be indented throughout and not enclosed in quotation marks. Printed, these quotes will appear in a smaller type size. Quotes of less than four lines should be run on in the text but enclosed in single quotation marks. Emphasis or italics: Words which require emphasis or to be printed in italics should be printed in italics or underlined.		abonnés.
--	--	---	--	--	----------

			Abbreviations and contractions: Do not use full stops in abbreviations (LSB, ABC, NSW) or in contractions (edn, dept, paras, s ss pp Vic). Write in full words like section (normally abbreviated to s or ss) where they begin a sentence. Numbers: Numbers under ten are written out in words. Exceptions are in expressing times, weights, measures, money and percentages when figures should always be used. In numbers with four digits, eg 3050 all digits are run together. With larger numbers use a space to indicate thousands, eg 32 567. Capitals: In general do not capitalise unless the word is a specific proper name. Footnotes: In the interests of maintaining a flowing and easily readable text and with a view to avoiding overly 'academic' style, footnotes should be kept to a minimum. Where footnoting is essential, these should be numbered endnotes (ie not indicated by asterisks or other symbols), and listed under the heading 'References'. Submission of Manuscripts  Note: As is the practice in Australia we will not assess articles that are under consideration by other journals. Please email your article to the Alternative Law Journal. Alternatively you can post a disk and manuscript to: Alternative Law Journal, Law Faculty, MONASH UNIVERSITY, VIC 3800. Refer to Future Issues to see which State Editorial Committee is handling an issue. Editors will commission articles on topical subjects but unsolicited general material will be considered at any time. Decisions  The journal has a rotating editor system with each issue being edited by different editors in different states or territories. Articles are refereed but may be rejected by an editor without refereeing if they fail to comply with the basic criteria, for example, length. Articles may be returned to authors for revision before being accepted. The time taken to give a decision about acceptance is variable but we endeavour to keep it under four months.
QLT Law Review	https://lr.law.qut.edu.au/issue/archive	The QUT Law Review (QUTLR) is a generalist law review, published bi-annually. Each year at least one volume	The QUT Law Review invites contributions from legal scholars and professionals, QUT staff, practitioners and students across a range of legal fields under the following sections: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Articles (blind, peer refereed),</li> </ul>	Gratuite.	Oui.

		is a dedicated Special Edition on a particular area. The journal is open to the possibility of publishing more than one special edition a year. The other volume is a General Edition with submissions from a broad range of legal research areas. The General Edition publishes articles as they are approved for publication with no delays for authors. Contributions are accepted throughout the year from legal scholars and professionals, QUT staff, practitioners and students across a range of legal fields.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Book Reviews,</li> <li>• Postgraduate Section,</li> <li>• Case Notes</li> <li>•</li> </ul> The Editorial Board reserves the right to reject articles with little or no relevance to our readership.  Special Editions - Calls for submissions will be placed on the 'Announcements' page. If you would like to receive notifications of the 'Call for Submissions', please Register your details with this journal. General Editions - Submissions will be accepted at any time of year as the General Edition will be published on a rolling basis throughout the calendar year. This means no delays for publishing authors. Submissions must: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• be of a high professional standard with clarity of style and expression;</li> <li>• refer to relevant published works and utilise current materials (legislation, cases, literature, surveys etc);</li> <li>• have a well developed argument that is supported by related and compelling evidence;</li> <li>• be proof-read and publication ready;</li> <li>• comply with the Editorial Style and Format Guidelines (PDF, 104KB) and meet referencing and citation methods used in AGLC3 (PDF, 3MB)</li> <li>• where an article is submitted for inclusion in a special edition, align with the theme prescribed for that edition.</li> </ul> Submissions that do not meet these requirements will have to be returned to authors for amendments before they can be sent out for review. This can delay submissions. Author's Responsibilities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• follow submission guidelines outlined above and the Editorial Style and Format Guidelines (PDF, 104KB);</li> <li>• read through and complete the online 'Submission Preparation Checklist' (see below);</li> <li>• ensure the submitted work is not defamatory or litigious;</li> <li>• inform the Journal Manager if they choose to withdraw and submit to another journal for consideration;</li> <li>• ensure the submitted work is an original piece that does not infringe the copyright of any other author;</li> <li>• accept the Editorial Board decisions made to publish or not to publish a submission; and</li> <li>• accept editorial changes made to submissions to ensure their compliance with the editorial style of the journal.</li> </ul>
Public Space: The Journal of Law and	http://epress.lib.uts.edu.au/journals/index.php/publicsp	Public Space: The Journal of Law and Social Justice is a peer reviewed, multi	The style guide, author guidelines and instructions for making online submissions to Public Space can be found under the “Homepage&gt;About&gt;Submissions” tab of Public Space:	Gratuite.	Oui.

Social Justice	ace/index	media, online, law journal which draws on cross disciplinary research and scholarship to address social justice issues of immediate and wide ranging concern. Public Space also includes an Open Space for non-refereed contributions, including reviews, links to other journals or conferences, and discussion. Public Space is published twice a year in open access form by the Faculty of Law of the University of Technology, Sydney and UTSePress.	http://epress.lib.uts.edu.au/ojs/index.php/publicspace/about The first step in submitting an article to Public Space is to register as an author – a link to the registration page is provided at the above site. After filling in your personal details select the ‘register as author’ button. The next step is to go back to the homepage and log into your account. You can then go to 'My Journals&gt;Author&gt;Start the Submissions Process' to upload your item. Once uploaded, your item is placed in the submission queue where it is peer reviewed and sub-edited. After this process is complete your item is finally placed in the submission review queue for the author to revise and resubmit if necessary. For audio or video files the maximum size that can be uploaded per file is 20mb. If you are interested in how Open Source Journals operate please visit: pkp.sfu.ca/files/OJSinanHour.pdf
------------------------------	----------------------------------	--	---	--	--

2. Liste de diffusion (Sciences sociales)

Cette liste comprend des revues et périodiques s'intéressant aux travaux en français et en anglais sous l'angle des sciences sociales. Celles-ci sont présentées par discipline et, dû à leur importante diversité, elles ne sont pas classées par influence.

NOM DE LA PUBLICATION	DISCIPLINE(S) D'ENTRÉE	PAYS D'ÉDITION
Yale Journal of Law & The Humanities	Droit / Anthropologie	États-Unis
Political and Legal Anthropology Review	Anthropologie	États-Unis
Journal of Anthropological Research	Anthropologie	États-Unis
Human Organization	Anthropologie	États-Unis
Journal of Computer-Mediated Communication	Anthropologie / Sociologie / Communication	États-Unis
La Revue canadienne des sciences de l'information et de la bibliothéconomie	Sciences de l'information	Canada
The Canadian Journal of Information and Library Science	Sciences de l'information	Canada
Journal of the American Society for Information Science and Technology (JASIST)	Sciences de l'information	États-Unis
Studies in Ethics, Law, and Technology	Technologie / Sciences de l'information / Droit	Allemagne
Ethics and Information Technology	Technologies de l'information	Pays-Bas
The Journal of Strategic Information Systems	Technologies de l'information	Pays-Bas
The Journal of Legal Studies	Droit / Sciences juridiques	États-Unis
Journal of Empirical Legal Studies	Droit / Sciences juridiques	États-Unis
Oxford Journal of Legal Studies	Sciences juridiques	Royaume-Uni
Social & Legal Studies	Sciences juridiques / Architecture	Royaume-Uni
Legal Studies	Sciences juridiques / Droit	Royaume-Uni
Psychology, Public Policy and Law	Psychologie / Droit	États-Unis
Behavioral Sciences & The Law	Psychologie / Droit	États-Unis
International Journal of Law and Psychiatry	Psychologie / Droit	Royaume-Uni
Law & Human Behavior	Psychologie / Droit	Royaume-Uni
Psychiatry, Psychology, and Law	Psychologie / Droit	Australie
La Revue Canadienne Droit et Société	Sociologie / Droit	Canada

Canadian Journal of Law & Society
Windsor Yearbook of Access to Justice	Sociologie / Psychologie / Anthropologie / Droit	Canada
Law & Society Review	Sociologie / Psychologie / Droit	États-Unis
Law & Social Inquiry	Sociologie / Psychologie / Droit	États-Unis
Journal of Law and Society	Sociologie / Droit	Royaume-Uni
Journal of Judicial Administration	Architecture / Technologies de l'information	Australie
International Journal of Human-Computer Studies	Design / Psychologie / Technologies de l'information	Royaume-Uni
Journal of Environmental Psychology	Psychologie / Architecture / Design	Royaume-Uni

2. Liste de diffusion détaillée (Sciences sociales)

La liste de diffusion détaillée met à disposition des chercheurs un lien vers la page web de chaque revue ou périodique, sa description originale, la mention du caractère gratuit ou payant de celui-ci, de même que sa disponibilité en ligne. Notons que, contrairement à la liste de diffusion détaillée en droit, cette liste ne présente pas les paramètres de soumission de travaux, mais intègre plutôt la/les discipline(s) d'intérêt de la revue ou du périodique pertinentes aux travaux du GTRC, ainsi que leur pays d'édition.

ANTHROPOLOGIE
NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION	DISCIPLINE(S) / PAYS	GRATUITE / PAYANTE	EN LIGNE
Yale Journal of Law &amp; The Humanities	http://www.law.yale.edu/academics/yjlh.htm	In the twenty years since its inception, the Yale Journal of Law &amp; the Humanities (YJLH) has become a premier forum for articulating the vital intersections between law and the liberal arts. Grounded in the ever-deepening awareness that interdisciplinary investigation is crucial to an understanding of both the law and our culture, YJLH provides a unique intellectual arena for encounters between law and a variety of disciplines. YJLH is composed of students studying at the Yale Law School as well as graduate students studying humanities-related disciplines through the other graduate programs at Yale University. We publish two issues per year and are currently working on the first issue of our twenty-fifth volume.	Droit / Anthropologie  États-Unis	Payante.	Non.
Political and Legal Anthropology Review	http://www.polaronline.org/	The journal of the Association for Political and Legal Anthropology (APLA) , PoLAR: Political and Legal Anthropology Review is devoted to the anthropology of law and politics, most broadly conceived. This innovative interdisciplinary publication features articles on such issues as nationalism, citizenship, political and legal processes, the state, civil society, colonialism, postcolonial public spheres, multiculturalism, and media politics. It publishes work that is distinguished by its innovative definition of problems, ethnographic orientation, or theoretical outlook. We welcome submissions of manuscripts between 4,000 and 8,000 words in length (including notes and references).	Anthropologie  États-Unis	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
Journal of Anthropological Research	https://www.unm.edu/~jar/	The Journal of Anthropological Research publishes articles emphasizing theoretically informed original research in all areas of anthropology relating to peoples and cultures, past and present, in any region. It provides a peer-reviewed vehicle of expression for anthropologists worldwide. Volunteered articles should be problem-oriented and of general interest.	Anthropologie  États-Unis	Payante.	Non.

Human Organization	http://ho.sfaa.net/index.php/HO/index	Human Organization is the journal of the Society for Applied Anthropology. Its primary objective is the scientific investigation of the "principles controlling the relations of human beings to one another and the wide application of these principles to practical problems." The journal regularly includes sections on government and industry, health and medical care, and international affairs. Articles report the application of concepts of social/behavioral science to issues and problems in the contemporary world. Human Organization publishes articles dealing with all areas of applied social science. Case studies, comparative studies, theoretical essays, and articles describing new methods are welcome.	Anthropologie États-Unis	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
Journal of Computer-Mediated Communication	http://jcmc.indiana.edu/index.html	The Journal of Computer-Mediated Communication (JCMC) is a web-based, peer-reviewed scholarly journal. Its focus is social science research on computer-mediated communication via the Internet, the World Wide Web, and wireless technologies. Within that general purview, the journal is broadly interdisciplinary, publishing work by scholars in communication, business, education, political science, sociology, media studies, information science, and other disciplines. Acceptable formats for submission include original research articles, meta-analyses of prior research, synthesizing literature surveys, and proposals for special issues.	Anthropologie / Sociologie / Communication États-Unis	Gratuite.	Oui.
SCIENCES DE L'INFORMATION / TECHNOLOGIE
NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION	DISCIPLINE(S) / PAYS	GRATUITE / PAYANTE	EN LIGNE
La Revue canadienne des sciences de l'information et de la bibliothéconomie The Canadian Journal of Information and Library Science (Bilingue)	http://www.caais-acs.ca/journal/journal_fr.htm	La Revue canadienne des sciences de l'information et de bibliothéconomie continue la Revue canadienne des sciences de l'information et est publiée par L'Association canadienne des sciences de l'information (ACSI). [...] La politique éditoriale de la revue est de contribuer à l'avancement des sciences de l'information et de bibliothéconomie, en offrant une tribune pour encourager les échanges sur la théorie et la recherche. La revue s'intéresse aux résultats de recherche, à l'étude des problématiques propres au domaine, aux pratiques informationnelles des individus et des groupes d'individus, et à l'étude du contexte historique, socio-économique ou technologique des systèmes et des services d'information.	Sciences de l'information Canada	Payante.	Non.
Journal of the American Society	http://www.asis.org/jasist.html	The Journal of the American Society for Information Science and Technology (JASIST) is a leading international	Sciences de l'information	Gratuite.	Oui, mais seulement

for Information Science and Technology (JASIST)		forum for peer-reviewed research in information science. For more than half a century, JASIST has provided intellectual leadership by publishing original research that focuses on the production, discovery, recording, storage, representation, retrieval, presentation, manipulation, dissemination, use, and evaluation of information and on the tools and techniques associated with these processes. The Journal welcomes rigorous work of an empirical, experimental, ethnographic, conceptual, historical, socio-technical, policy-analytic, or critical-theoretical nature. JASIST also commissions in-depth review articles (“Advances in Information Science”) and reviews of print and other media. Aims: AIS articles are scholarly reviews of clearly defined topics, substantiated by reference to the published literature. The aim is to furnish the reader with a complete picture of the state-of-the-art for each focal area. Review articles published in the AIS series meet the highest standards of comprehensiveness of coverage, clarity of exposition and structure, and significance of reported work. The title “Advances in Information Science” has been chosen in order to distinguish the review articles in this series from others that are merely historical reviews of the literature: the expectation is that accepted papers will push the boundaries of knowledge in emerging areas of interest. In their submissions, authors are encouraged to develop frameworks, models, and recommendations that will serve not only to orient readers new to the field under consideration, but also to point to ways in which future work may be organized and prioritized. Scope: The original research reported in AIS’s parent journal focuses on the production, discovery, recording, storage, representation, retrieval, presentation, manipulation, dissemination, use, and evaluation of information. Similarly, the review articles published in the AIS series provide authoritative and accessible overviews of recent and ongoing work that significantly improves our understanding of these processes, and of the tools and techniques associated with them. Some of the broad areas of inquiry that lie within the scope of AIS are: knowledge production; knowledge organization; information systems design and evaluation; information access and use; and information policy. In practice, the range of topics covered in the AIS series will reflect the diversity and dynamism of the broad field of information science and technology.	États-Unis		pour les abonnés.
Studies in Ethics, Law, and Technology	http://www.degruyter.com/view/j/selt	Studies in Ethics, Law, and Technology is an interdisciplinary peer-reviewed journal that focuses on the ethical and legal issues that arise from emerging technologies. At the intersection of theory and practice the journal combines conceptual analysis and normative deliberations in order to shape academic debates and policy decisions. Technological advances provide opportunities and challenges that require a policy response. Studies in Ethics, Law, and Technology seeks high quality work that explores the synergy between law and ethics and provides a robust response to these opportunities and challenges. More specifically, the journal focuses on technologies that are likely to have a significant impact on the environment, society, and/or humanity. These will include, but not be limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Biotechnologies</li> <li>• Nanotechnologies</li> </ul>	Technologie / Sciences de l’information / Droit Allemagne	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Neurotechnologies</li> <li>• Information Technologies</li> <li>• Weapons and Security Technology</li> <li>• Energy and Fuel Technology</li> <li>• Space Based Technologies</li> <li>• New Media and Communication Technologies</li> </ul>
Ethics and Information Technology	http://link.springer.com/journal/10676	Ethics and Information Technology is a peer-reviewed journal dedicated to advancing the dialogue between moral philosophy and the field of information and communication technology (ICT). The journal aims to foster and promote reflection and analysis which is intended to make a constructive contribution to answering the ethical, social and political questions associated with the adoption, use, and development of ICT. Within the scope of the journal are also conceptual analysis and discussion of ethical ICT issues which arise in the context of technology assessment, cultural studies, public policy analysis and public administration, cognitive science, social and anthropological studies in technology, mass-communication, and legal studies. In addition, the journal features research that deals with the history of ideas and provides intellectual resources for moral and political reflection on ICT.	Technologies de l'information Pays-Bas	Gratuite.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
The Journal of Strategic Information Systems	http://www.journals.elsevier.com/the-journal-of-strategic-information-systems/	The Journal of Strategic Information Systems focuses on the management, business and organizational issues associated with the introduction and utilization of information systems as a strategic tool, and considers these issues in a global context. The emphasis is on the incorporation of IT into organizations' strategic thinking, strategy alignment and management of change issues. The journal publishes research and case study papers from around the world which: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• investigate the very nature of business in the context of emerging IT</li> <li>• discuss the justification and evaluation of information systems</li> <li>• discuss the organizational implications of IT</li> <li>• consider how organizations have been transformed as a result of the astute management and application of IT</li> </ul> A transdisciplinary approach/perspective is welcome. Topics covered include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• organizational transformation on the back of information technology</li> <li>• information systems/business strategy alignment</li> <li>• inter-organizational systems</li> <li>• global issues and cross-cultural issues</li> <li>• the impact and significance of emerging information technologies (e.g. internet, intranets)</li> </ul>	Technologies de l'information Pays-Bas	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.

SCIENCES JURIDIQUES

NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION	DISCIPLINE(S) / PAYS	GRATUITE / PAYANTE	EN LIGNE
The Journal of Legal Studies	http://www.jstor.org/page/journal/jlegalstudies/about.html	The Journal of Legal Studies is a journal of interdisciplinary academic research into law and legal institutions. It emphasizes social science approaches, especially those of economics, political science, and psychology, but it also publishes the work of historians, philosophers, and others who are interested in legal theory. The JLS was founded in 1972.	Droit / Sciences juridiques  États-Unis	Payante.	Non.
Journal of Empirical Legal Studies	http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/journal/10.1111/%28ISSN%291740-1461	The Journal of Empirical Legal Studies (JELS) is a peer-edited, peer-refereed, interdisciplinary journal that publishes high-quality, empirically-oriented articles of interest to scholars in a diverse range of law and law-related fields, including civil justice, corporate law, criminal justice, domestic relations, economics, finance, health care, political science, psychology, public policy, securities regulation, and sociology. Both experimental and nonexperimental data analysis are welcome, as are law-related empirical studies from around the world. Launched in 2004, JELS is devoted to the dissemination of empirical studies of the legal system. The Journal's editors and editorial advisory boards comprise renowned international scholars from diverse disciplines, including law, statistics, economics, psychology, industrial relations, and dispute resolution. Recognizing that many legal and policy debates hinge on assumptions about the operation of the legal system, the Journal seeks to encourage and promote the careful, dispassionate testing of these assumptions. The editorial policy of the Journal is open to empirical work from any disciplinary or ideological approach to the study of law.	Sciences juridiques / Droit  États-Unis	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
Oxford Journal of Legal Studies	http://ojls.oxfordjournals.org/	The Oxford Journal of Legal Studies is published on behalf of the Faculty of Law in the University of Oxford. It is designed to encourage interest in all matters relating to law, with an emphasis on matters of theory and on broad issues arising from the relationship of law to other disciplines. No topic of legal interest is excluded from consideration. In addition to traditional questions of legal interest, the following are all within the purview of the journal: comparative and international law, the law of the European Union, legal history and philosophy, and interdisciplinary material in areas of relevance.	Sciences juridiques  Royaume-Uni	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
Social &amp; Legal Studies	http://sls.sagepub.com	Social & Legal Studies is a leading international journal, publishing progressive, interdisciplinary and critical approaches to socio-legal study. The journal is committed to feminist, post-colonial and socialist economic perspectives to the study of law. It offers an intellectual space where diverse traditions and critical approaches within legal study meet, and aims to promote greater understanding of work being carried out in less academically dominant countries.	Sciences juridiques / Architecture  Royaume-Uni	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.

Legal Studies	http://www.legalscholars.ac.uk/legalstudies/index.cfm	Legal Studies is the journal of the Society of Legal Scholars (SLS). Legal Studies is recognised as one of the foremost academic law journals in the UK and enjoys an international readership both within the common law world and beyond. Legal Studies is a truly generalist peer-reviewed law journal and aims to include a varied range of scholarly articles in each issue, including doctrinal, conceptual, and socio-legal analyses. The journal warmly welcomes contributions from all those who wish to reach a broad international and UK readership. Information about Legal Studies is also available at Wiley On-Line Library. The table of contents from the latest Legal Studies is also available. - See more at: http://www.legalscholars.ac.uk/legalstudies/index.cfm#sthash.es6CMRjx.dpuf	Sciences juridiques / Droit Royaume-Uni	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
PSYCHOLOGIE
NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION	DISCIPLINE(S) / PAYS	GRATUITE / PAYANTE	EN LIGNE
Psychology, Public Policy, and Law	http://www.apa.org/pubs/journals/law/index.aspx	Psychology, Public Policy, and Law® provides a forum to critically evaluate the contributions of psychology and related disciplines (hereinafter psychology) to public policy and legal issues, and vice versa. It is intended to appeal to law professors, legal professionals, judges, and public policy analysts, as well as psychology researchers and practitioners working at the interface of the three fields. The journal publishes theoretical and empirical articles that <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>critically evaluate the contributions and potential contributions of psychology to public policy and legal issues;</li> <li>assess the desirability of different public policy and legal alternatives in light of the scientific knowledge base in psychology;</li> <li>articulate research needs that address public policy and legal issues for which there is currently insufficient theoretical and empirical knowledge;</li> <li>present empirical work that makes a significant contribution to the application of psychological knowledge to public policy or the law; and</li> <li>examine public policy and legal issues relating to the conduct of psychology and related disciplines (e.g., human subjects, protection policies; informed consent procedures).</li> </ul> Although some of these issues may be addressed in articles currently being submitted to traditional law reviews, this publication uniquely provides peer review, scientific and legal input, and editorial guidance from psychologists and lawyers. Through publication in a single forum, it will also focus attention of scholarly, public policy, and legal audiences on such work.	Psychologie / Droit États-Unis	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
Behavioral Sciences &amp; the Law	http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/journal/10.1002/%28ISSN%291099-0798	Behavioral Sciences &amp; the Law is a peer reviewed journal which provides current and comprehensive information from throughout the world on topics at the interface of the law and the behavioral sciences. The	Psychologie / Droit	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les journal balances theoretical, mental health, legal, and research writings to provide a broad perspective on pertinent psycho-legal topics. Most issues are devoted primarily to one special topic, often presented from a variety of disciplinary perspectives. One special issue per year is specifically targeted toward "International Perspectives" on the selected topic. In addition, one issue each year is devoted to miscellaneous research articles, special perspectives, book review/essays, adversarial forums, and articles of special concern to practitioners; such offerings are also published in other issues as space permits. The journal also appeals to clinicians, academics, researchers, and policy makers. Five issues are published per year, and articles are published in English.	États-Unis		abonnés.

International Journal of Law and Psychiatry	http://www.journals.elsevier.com/international-journal-of-law-and-psychiatry	The International Journal of Law and Psychiatry is intended to provide a multi-disciplinary forum for the exchange of ideas and information among professionals concerned with the interface of law and psychiatry. There is a growing awareness of the need for exploring the fundamental goals of both the legal and psychiatric systems and the social implications of their interaction. The journal seeks to enhance understanding and cooperation in the field through the varied approaches represented, not only by law and psychiatry, but also by the social sciences and related disciplines. The Editors and Publisher wish to encourage a dialogue among the experts from different countries whose diverse legal cultures afford interesting and challenging alternatives to existing theories and practices. Priority will therefore be given to articles which are oriented to a comparative or international perspective. The journal will publish significant conceptual contributions on contemporary issues as well as serve in the rapid dissemination of important and relevant research findings. The International Journal of Law and Psychiatry is published bimonthly in English; wherever possible, translated articles are accompanied by an abstract in the original language. The views expressed in this journal do not necessarily reflect those of the editors.	Psychologie / Droit  Royaume-Uni	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
Law &amp; Human Behavior	http://www.apa.org/pubs/journals/lhb/	Law and Human Behavior® is a multidisciplinary forum for the publication of articles and discussions of issues arising from the relationships between human behavior and the law, the legal system, and the legal process. The journal publishes original research, reviews of earlier research results, and theoretical studies. Coverage spans criminal justice, law, psychology, sociology, psychiatry, political science, education, communication, and other areas germane to the field. This is the official journal of the American Psychology-Law Society (AP-LS)/Division 41 of APA.	Psychologie / Droit  Royaume-Uni	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
Psychiatry, Psychology, and Law	http://www.tandfonline.com/loi/tppl20#.Ud1i6lOxMy4	Psychiatry, Psychology and Law is a peer reviewed journal with outstanding academic and professional representation on its editorial board. The journal disseminates high quality information to scholars and professionals working in the areas, or intersections, of psychiatry, psychology and the law. It aims to keep professionals informed about contemporary research and practice developments in these fields and to facilitate	Psychologie / Droit  Australie	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.

		cross-disciplinary debate, collaboration and communication. The journal publishes original articles and empirical studies; analyses of professional issues, controversies and developments in these areas; case studies and case commentaries; and book reviews. It invites contributions to research and practice developments in forensic psychiatry, forensic psychology, criminology, behavioural science, civil and criminal mental health law and related fields. The journal is open, but not limited, to international or cross-jurisdictional comparisons of experiences in the related fields and invites authors to contextualise in depth analyses of specialised topics to readers of various backgrounds. Periodically, one of the annual issues of Psychiatry, Psychology and Law deals with a particular topic in depth. Psychiatry, Psychology and Law is the professional journal of the Australian and New Zealand Association of Psychiatry, Psychology and Law (ANZAPPL). Established in the late 1970s, ANZAPPL is committed to exploring the relationship between the disciplines of psychiatry, psychology and the law.
SOCIOLOGIE
NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION	DISCIPLINE(S) / PAYS	GRATUITE / PAYANTE	EN LIGNE
La Revue Canadienne Droit et Société Canadian Journal of Law &amp; Society (Bilingue)	http://www.acds-clsa.org/?q=en/node/2	The Canadian Journal of Law and Society (CJLS) is a bilingual periodical publishing cutting edge research in the broad field of law and society scholarship. Rooted in the innovative Canadian Law and Society movement, CJLS features international scholarship concerning the intersection of law and sociology, cultural studies, literature, political science, criminology, history, human rights, gender studies and political economy. The journal is edited by renowned scholars Mariana Valverde and Violaine Lemay supported by an international editorial board comprised of forward thinking and active scholars from a range of disciplines. The Journal is published twice yearly with the support of the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, the office of the Vice-President, Research, the Dean of the Faculty of Public Affairs and the Department of Law, Carleton University. In addition, CJLS/RCDS publishes thematic special issues. Forthcoming special issues address, for example, administrative discretion and legal pluralism.	Sociologie / Droit  Canada	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
Windsor Yearbook of Access to Justice (Publication en français possible)	http://www.uwindsor.ca/law/wyaj/	Created in 1979, the Windsor Yearbook of Access to Justice was the earliest Canadian journal devoted to the trans-cultural and international study of individuals and groups excluded from the protections of the domestic or international legal orders. The Yearbook is independently refereed, publishes French and English essays and book reviews, is faculty-run and is supported by a distinguished Advisory Board. The Yearbook encourages a wide diversity of essays from a broad range of disciplines, such as anthropology, sociology, philosophy, psychology, history and comparative literature as well as law. The Faculty of Law at the University of Windsor publishes the Windsor Yearbook of Access to Justice semi-	Sociologie / Psychologie / Anthropologie / Droit  Canada	Payante.	Non.

		annually with the assistance of grants from the Ontario Law Foundation and from the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada. The Yearbook is indexed and abstracted in the following: CSA Sociological Abstracts, Canadian Association of Learned Journals, Current Law Index, Current Law Journal Content, Index to Canadian Legal Literature, Index to Legal Periodicals and Books, IndexMaster, CPI-Q, Hein On-Line, LegalTrac, Lexis-Nexis, Quicklaw, Ulrich's Periodicals Directory, Westlaw &amp; Wilson Web.
Law &amp; Society Review	http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/journal/10.1111/%28ISSN%291540-5893	Founded in 1966, Law &amp; Society Review is regarded by sociolegal scholars worldwide as a leading journal in the field. The Review is a peer-reviewed publication for work bearing on the relationship between society and the legal process, including articles or notes of interest to the research community in general, new theoretical developments, results of empirical studies, and reviews and comments on the field or its methods of inquiry. Broadly interdisciplinary, The Review welcomes work from any tradition of scholarship concerned with the cultural, economic, political, psychological, or social aspects of law and legal systems. Keywords law, society, review, association, lsa, lsr, policy, legal, sociology, procedural, justice, journal, judicial, jurisdiction, legislation, government, parliament, sentencing, criminal, act, research, analysis, periodical, studies	Sociologie / Psychologie / Droit	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
Law &amp; Social Inquiry	http://www.americanbarfoundation.org/publications/lawsocialinquiry.html	The American Bar Foundation sponsors a quarterly, interdisciplinary, peer-reviewed academic journal, Law &amp; Social Inquiry, which is published by Wiley-Blackwell Publishing. Laura Beth Nielsen is the current Editor of the journal and Howard S. Erlanger is the Review Section Editor. Contributors include legal academics and social scientists from around the world. Past articles have been awarded such distinctions as the 2011 Law &amp; Society Article Prize and have earned the journal an impressive impact factor from the Journal Citation Report (JCR). Law &amp; Social Inquiry's content is diverse and wide-ranging and represents some of the finest scholarly contributions from respected authors such as Bryant Garth and Yves Dezalay. For more information on Law &amp; Social Inquiry's scope, manuscript submission and review policies, and style guide, please visit our Scope &amp; Submission Details page. For additional information on Law and Social Inquiry subscription rates and journal information visit our site at Wiley-Blackwell Publishing. Law &amp; Social Inquiry accepts manuscripts year-round through our submission portal, ScholarOne Manuscripts. LSI publishes original empirical and theoretical studies of law that contribute to the understanding of sociolegal processes. The content is diverse and multidisciplinary, including topics based in: Anthropology, Criminology, Economics, History, Law, Philosophy, Political Science, Sociology and Social	Sociologie / Psychologie / Droit	Gratuite.	Oui.

		Psychology.
Journal of Law and Society	http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/journal/10.1111/%28ISSN%291467-6478	Published annually, the Journal of Law and Society Special Issues offer an interdisciplinary approach to specific themes within socio-legal studies. Challenging and authoritative, these issues provide searching yet accessible analyses of a wide range of topics, with examinations of specific legislation appearing alongside more general discussions of current legal practice and theory in relation to other social forces. Attracting contributors from around the world and addressing issues from a range of legal cultures, as well as theoretical concerns of a cross-cultural nature, this series will have a broad international appeal - not only to legal researchers and practitioners, but to sociologists, criminologists and other social scientists.	Sociologie / Droit Royaume-Uni	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
ARCHITECTURE / DESIGN
NOM	SITE WEB	DESCRIPTION DE LA PUBLICATION	DISCIPLINE(S) / PAYS	GRATUITE / PAYANTE	EN LIGNE
Journal of Judicial Administration	http://www.thomsonreuters.com.au/journal-of-judicial-administration-online/productdetail/97179	The Journal of Judicial Administration is a leading forum for the discussion of contemporary issues impacting on judicial administration. The Journal features informed discourse on areas such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- the efficient and effective operation of Courts, Tribunals and quasi-judicial forums;</li> <li>- the impact of new technology on judicial administration;</li> <li>- the structure, organisation, financing and management of the Courts and the Court system;</li> <li>- the appointment, tenure, independence and accountability of judicial officers; and</li> <li>- education programs to enhance the work performance of justice system personnel.</li> </ul> The Journal is published in association with the Australasian Institute of Judicial Administration (AIJA). The articles featured in the Journal are written by leading judges, academics, practitioners and other legal specialists and experts. Online, the Journal features the full backset to Volume 1, 1991, with links to judgments, legislation and other online publications, while allowing for individual articles to be downloaded in pdf format or received via RSS feed.	Architecture / Technologies de l'information Australie	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.
International Journal of Human-Computer Studies	http://www.journals.elsevier.com/international-journal-of-human-computer-studies/	The International Journal of Human-Computer Studies publishes original research over the whole spectrum of work relevant to the theory and practice of innovative interactive systems . The journal is inherently interdisciplinary, covering research in computing, artificial intelligence, psychology, linguistics, communication, design, engineering, and social organization, which is relevant to the design, analysis,	Design / Psychologie / Technologies de l'information	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les abonnés.

		evaluation and application of innovative interactive systems. Papers at the boundaries of these disciplines are especially welcome, as it is our view that interdisciplinary approaches are needed for producing theoretical insights in this complex area and for effective deployment of innovative technologies in concrete user communities. Research areas relevant to the journal include, but are not limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Innovative interaction techniques</li> <li>• Multimodal interaction</li> <li>• Speech interaction</li> <li>• Graphic interaction</li> <li>• Natural language interaction</li> <li>• Interaction in mobile and embedded systems</li> <li>• Interface design and evaluation methodologies</li> <li>• Design and evaluation of innovative interactive systems</li> <li>• User interface prototyping and management systems</li> <li>• Ubiquitous computing</li> <li>• Wearable computers</li> <li>• Pervasive computing</li> <li>• Affective computing</li> <li>• Empirical studies of user behaviour</li> <li>• Empirical studies of programming and software engineering</li> <li>• Computer supported cooperative work</li> <li>• Computer mediated communication</li> <li>• Virtual reality</li> <li>• Mixed and augmented Reality</li> <li>• Intelligent user interfaces</li> <li>• Presence</li> <li>• Intelligent tutoring, coaching and debugging systems</li> <li>• Interactive decision support systems</li> <li>• Agent-based computing, agent models, co-ordination and communication</li> <li>• Human language technologies and machine learning in interactive systems</li> <li>• Knowledge acquisition, discovery, modelling and management</li> <li>• Peer to peer communication between intelligent systems</li> <li>• Ontologies, knowledge technologies, semantic web systems</li> <li>• Human-Computer Interaction theory - e.g. user models, cognitive systems</li> </ul>	Royaume-Uni
Journal of Environmental Psychology	http://www.journals.elsevier.com/journal-of-environmental-psychology/	The Journal of Environmental Psychology serves individuals in a wide range of disciplines who have an interest in the scientific study of the transactions and interrelationships between people and their physical surroundings	Psychologie / Architecture / Design	Payante.	Oui, mais seulement pour les

		(including built and natural environments, the use and abuse of nature and natural resources, and sustainability-related behavior). The journal publishes internationally contributed empirical studies and reviews of research on these topics that include new insights. As an important forum for the field, the journal reflects the scientific development and maturation of environmental psychology. Contributions on theoretical, methodological, and practical aspects of human-environment interactions are welcome, along with innovative or interdisciplinary approaches that have a psychological emphasis. Research Areas Include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Perception and evaluation of buildings and natural landscapes</li> <li>• Cognitive mapping, spatial cognition and wayfinding</li> <li>• Ecological consequences of human actions</li> <li>• Evaluation of building and natural landscapes</li> <li>• Design of, and experiences related to, the physical aspects of workplaces, schools, residences, public buildings and public spaces</li> <li>• Leisure and tourism behavior in relation to their physical settings</li> <li>• Meaning of built forms</li> <li>• Psychological and behavioral aspects of people and nature</li> <li>• Theories of place, place attachment, and place identity</li> <li>• Psychological aspects of resource management and crises</li> <li>• Environmental risks and hazards: perception, behavior, and management</li> <li>• Stress related to physical settings</li> <li>• Social use of space: crowding, privacy, territoriality, personal space</li> </ul>	Royaume-Uni		abonnés.
--	--	---	-------------	--	----------